Air Search Begun For Son-In-Law Of Local Couple

Martinsburg, W.Va. — An intensive search is continuing in this area for T. F. Scholes, president of the Scholes Construction Co., Reading, who is reported overdue on a flight from Reading, Pa., to Shumaker, Ark.

Scholes, husband of the former Clementine Samsel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Samsel, 19 S. Sixth St., Stroudsburg, has been missing since early Sunday afternoon. He left Reading Airport at 2:12 p.m. Sunday and was scheduled to refuel at Charleston, W.Va., 150 miles from here. He was in radio contact with the airport here on schedule but never reached Charleston, one hour's flying time.

The 38-year-old executive was due in Arkansas about 10 p.m. Sunday on a routine flight to inspect work by his concern at the Naval Ammunition Supply Depot at Shumaker. The firm contracts for railroad construction and is among the contractors working at the $33,000,000 Signal Corps depot in Tobyhanna.

Donald Charlton, vice-president of the firm, said Scholes was considered an excellent pilot. He received his license in June and had flown over 400 hours to various jobs in the eastern and central sectors of the country.

Charlton said no investigation was launched immediately because it was believed Scholes may have "set down" overnight, planning to resume flight Monday morning. But at 9:30 a.m. Monday the Civil Aeronautics Authority at Camden and Pine Bluff, Ark., reported Scholes overdue and the search was started.

The Air-Sea Rescue Command of the U.S. Air Force at Westover Air Base, Mass., ordered their station at Martinsburg to begin a search by plane and mobile units throughout the mountainous terrain.

CAP squadrons at Charleston, Keyser, Hinton, and Elkins, W. Va., also have been enlisted in the search.

Scholes was reported flying alone in a four-passenger Navion, privately owned by the firm.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Samsel left Stroudsburg for the Scholes residence in Wyomissing, near Reading, to be with their daughter and grandchildren, Janet, 10, and Susan, 4.

Allies Smash Four-Hour Red Assault

Seoul (AP) — Allied infantrymen smashed a four-hour assault by a company of howling Chinese early today on the southern slopes of Jackson Heights on the Central Front.

An Eighth Army briefing officer said a heavy Communist artillery barrage preceded the attack shortly after midnight. The fighting raged at close quarters with hand grenades and small arms fire.

Jackson Heights proper is held by the Reds. However, the Allies are dug in at important outpost positions on the southern slopes. They have been under attack almost nightly, but the briefing officer said today's predawn clash hit a new high in fury and intensity in that sector.

Allied warplanes continued their heavy blows at Communist supply and troop concentrations—this time with 12 Superforts blasting a 95-acre target near Sinanju in Northwest Korea.

Cox Charges Grants Made To Subversives

Washington (AP) — Rep. Cox (D-Ga) said yesterday Owen Lattimore, former State Department adviser, obtained large sums of money from the multimillion-dollar Rockefeller Foundation and the money was used "for subversive purposes."

The Georgia legislator, chairman of a special House inquiry committee, also said the Rockefeller Foundation and other tax-exempt groups made "a great number of grants" to persons disloyal to the United States.

In New York, Dean Rusk, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, commented:

The Rockefeller Foundation has reported the facts on these grants to the Cox committee in our reply to the questionnaire sent us by the committee.

"We are prepared to discuss any cases fully when we go before the committees."

Cox's statement before the committee about foundation grants to disloyal persons drew a quick rebuttal from Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, associate director of the Ford Foundation, who told the committee:

"I am perfectly certain that no major foundation has ever consciously gone into anything that would weaken the American system."

Court Upholds Dismissal Of School Teacher

Philadelphia (AP) — The dismissal of a Pittsburgh school teacher who had been charged with being a Communist was upheld yesterday by the Pennsylvania State Supreme Court.

The high court, in an opinion by Justice Horace Stern, upheld the Allegheny Common Pleas Court decision approving dismissal from the Pittsburgh school system of Dorothy Albert. Miss Albert was a former English teacher at the Taylor-Allderdice High School in Pittsburgh where she taught for about 18 years.

Dr. Earl A. Dimmick, superintendent of schools in Pittsburgh, preferred charges against her, alleging she was a Communist and requesting that her contract of employment be terminated for "advocation of or participating in un-American or subversive doctrines, in violation of the public school code."

Reaches Goal, Dies

Greensburg, Ind. (AP)—Mrs. Lucy Wilson, who often told friends at the Odd Fellows Home that she wanted to live to be 100, reached her goal Monday. Then she died a short time after a brief observance in her honor.

U.S. Supports Priority For Compromise

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The United States and 20 other countries agreed yesterday to urge priority in U. N. voting for an Indian compromise plan to end the Korean War.

This action came amid indications that more changes demanded by the United States would be made before a final vote is taken in the U. N. Political Committee, perhaps later this week.

Sir Percy Spender, Australian delegate and chairman of the group of 21 powers, announced the decision. He said it was understood also that necessary textual clarification would be sought on a major provision in the Indian resolution dealing with the final disposition of prisoners.

Delegates from the meeting would not comment further but American sources had said earlier yesterday the U. S. would not agree to give the Indian plan priority over a resolution sponsored by the 21 powers unless there was agreement to accept the changes asked by the U. S.

During the meeting British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, a central figure in a split between the U. S. and Britain last week on terms of the Indian proposal, left for London by air.

He said he believed there is a good chance of agreement of the majority of the U. N. on the Indian resolution "maybe with some clarifications."

Eden said the rejection of the Indian plan by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky Monday should not deter the majority from trying to find peace.

The main stumbling-block was reported to be in the last paragraph on disposition of prisoners. As amended by the Indian delegation, it would leave to the U. N. the disposition of all prisoners of war in Korea who were not repatriated after five months.

The U. S. objects that this does not yet go far enough. It wants a definite time limit for release of these prisoners. Without such a time limit, the U. S. says, the prisoners may remain in camps indefinitely while East and West haggle.

The Political Committee meets at 10:30 a.m. today to continue an increasing fight on a move to put the Indian resolution ahead of all others.

Earlier yesterday the South Koreans announced to the United Nations, Allies and the Communists alike, that they will not accept any truce or peace settlement reached without their full consent and participation.

Gang Leader Kills Self

Hollywood (AP) — Police cleaned up a state-wide crime organization with arrests in three cities yesterday, a few hours after the gang leader shot it out with detectives in a dramatic running gun battle and then killed himself to avoid capture.

Guns blazed in corridors and stairways of an apartment hotel last night as officers pursued Richard K. Franklin, 40, released from San Quentin only last August. Franklin, wounded five times, finally put an end to the chase by firing a bullet into his head.

Under arrest are nine men and two women, suspects in "the perfect crime organization" of which Franklin boasted, officers said. Three of the suspects were arrested in Stockton and one in San Francisco.

Thanksgiving Day!

(By Rev. P. N. Wohlsen, D.D.)

Tomorrow will be observed as the traditional Thanksgiving Day in our nation. It is certain that every citizen will in one way or another, celebrate this national holiday. There will be many family reunions through which gratitude will be expressed for God's blessing. There will be sports events and kindered features of an entertaining character. Let us not, however, forget the real purpose of the day.

From earliest history of our country, we have recognized the Almighty God as the Protector of our nation. The early citizenry first found their way to their churches, where in prayer and praise they expressed gratitude to a kind Providence. When that practice was carried out by the majority of the citizens, America was blessed and prospered. If we expect a continuation of this Providential care during the days in which we live, we need to return to the old custom. Let us take out some time tomorrow and attend church service, where from grateful hearts we give thanks to Him. Reflect upon our lot as compared to other nations and you will find abundant cause to enter His Church and give thanks to Him, who has been the guiding Power in our nation. Whatever else you do tomorrow, make church attendance a must on your calendar.

Two Women Appointed To Key Posts In Ike's Administration

Blinding Snowstorm Snarls Traffic In Central Plains, Moves Into Upper Mississippi

By The Associated Press

A blinding, wind-lashed snowstorm blocked highways in the Central Plains area last night and drove into the Upper Mississippi Valley.

Traffic was tied up in Western Kansas and Central and Eastern Nebraska as the near blizzard reduced visibility virtually to zero.

The Weather Bureau reported winds of 35 to 45 miles per hour accompanied the snow in the plains region, piling drifts across roads.

The snow drove northward from the Texas Panhandle where Borger reported an accumulation of 11 inches. It brought stinging cold winds from Dahlhart to the Gulf Coast, cutting off a three-day rain which ended the long Texas drought.

Winds drifted the snow over Panhandle highways, and the blowing kept airport operations stalled at Borger, Amarillo and Pampa. Schools were dismissed in the Amarillo area at noon. A small twister hit Port Arthur on the coast.

A Burlington fireman was killed at Amarillo when he slipped on the iced step of a locomotive and was thrown under the wheels.

At Chicago, the Weather Bureau issued a special snow warning for Minnesota. It predicted five to 10 inches of snowfall during the night with considerable drifting and blowing. Winds of 30 to 40 miles an hour were forecast last night and today in Minnesota. Only the extreme northwest and southeast were expected to receive light to moderate falls.

A wide area of rain extended south and east of the snow belt across the Midwest and Great Lakes area.

A new wave of cold air moved from Canada into the Northern Rockies and Western Plains Tuesday, sending daytime temperatures down to five above zero at Laramie, Wyo., and Butte, Mont.

Colder air moved into the Southern Atlantic states, with readings between 60 and 70 common as far south as Georgia.

Putnam Suggests 14-Month Extension Of Controls Act, Requests Stronger Powers

Washington, (AP)—Economic Stabilizer Roger L. Putnam has recommended that the government's power to control prices and wages be extended 14 months beyond the present April 30 deadline, it was learned yesterday.

In fact, officials said, Putnam is seeking somewhat stronger control powers than provided under present laws.

At the same time, the White House discounted a report from Sen. Maybank (D-SC) that he had information President Truman might end price-wage controls before Congress convenes Jan. 3.

Roger Tubby, acting presidential press secretary, said Truman has no such plans.

Simultaneously, outgoing Price Stabilizer Tighe Woods suspended price ceilings on all women's and misses' clothing, effective at once.

The Office of Price Stabilization indicated ceilings will be suspended by this weekend on men's and young men's apparel also—but not on infants' and children's wear, which is selling at or near ceiling prices. Market prices have been running well under ceilings on the clothing being decontrolled.

Former OPS Director Michale V. DiSalle was en route to Washington from Ohio to discuss the controls situation with Truman and, it was understood, to add his support for the retention of ceilings.

There was speculation that Truman might ask DiSalle, defeated Democratic candidate for the Senate to take over again as OPS director at least temporarily. DiSalle told a reporter at Toledo he had not been offered the job, which Woods will vacate on Dec. 1, and was not interested in it.

Woods announced Monday night he was quitting. He said he was fed up with administering what he termed the "weak law" given him by Congress.

Putnam's proposals were delivered some days ago to Defense Mobilization Director Henry H. Fowler, to be considered in Fowler's recommendations for new legislation.

Mrs. Eisenhower Guest At Luncheon

New York (AP)—The first chapter opened yesterday in the public life of Mamie Eisenhower as the nation's next first lady.

And, a little breathlessly, she said: "It's a wonderful occasion."

Mrs. Eisenhower was an "honored guest" at a women's luncheon—a role she'll likely be playing often for at least the next four years.

It was her first public appearance since Dwight D. Eisenhower was elected president.

As the woman who doubtlessly will be the most sought-after in the land as a drawing card at social-service functions, rallies, charity drives, "uplift-cause" dinners and club meetings, Mrs. Eisenhower said worriedly:

"I'll do the best I can."

No Paper Thursday

There will be no issue of The Daily Record tomorrow—to allow all employes to observe the Thanksgiving holiday. All local, state, national and international news together with a special Christmas shoppers section will appear in Friday morning's issue.

Cascio Kept From Selling Secret Data

Tokyo, (AP)—Painstaking work by Air Force investigators prevented S. Sgt. Guiseppe Cascio, a photo laboratory technician accused of plotting to deal with the enemy, from selling secret data on improved Sabre jets, the Air Force said yesterday.

The sergeant, a squat 34-year-old Tucson, Ariz., airman who twice won the Distinguished Flying Cross as a bombardier in World War II, was being held by authorities, probably in Japan.

He faces a maximum penalty of life imprisonment if found guilty of the charges—first of their kind involving an American since the start of the Korean War.

A headquarters announcement said that investigators had prevented Cascio from actually transmitting any secret information.

As a photo laboratory technician and occasional photographer with the 49th Air Base Group in Korea, he presumably had access to much information.

Trumans Invite Stevenson To Cabinet Dinner

Washington (AP) — Adlai Stevenson has been invited to a formal dinner that President and Mrs. Truman will give the night of Dec. 4 for members of the cabinet.

Mrs. James Helm, White House social secretary, told reporters of the invitation yesterday. She said that in addition to the Illinois governor and Cabinet members, invitations have gone to "some former Cabinet members." She declined to name them.

Mayor, Seven Others Indicted In Vice Inquiry

Fall River, Mass. (AP) — A grand jury yesterday indicted Mayor Edward C. Peirce of New Bedford and seven others on charges of conspiracy in connection with gambling in the old whaling city.

One indictment charged the 57-year-old mayor and two retired New Bedford policemen, Lt. Alfred Figueria, 57, and detective Arthur A. Dufresne, 52, conspired to cause the city's vice squad to refrain from prosecuting gamblers.

Another of six indictments charged the mayor, New Bedford City Council President Leonard Healy, Figueira and four other men, two of whom are not identified, with conspiring "to hinder, delay and impede" investigation and apprehension of armed robbers who held up a gambling club.

Meany Heads AFL, Renews Bid To CIO

Washington (AP)—George Meany, stocky 58-year-old former plumber, yesterday became president of the American Federation of Labor, and his first act was to renew a merger bid to the CIO.

Meany expressed confidence that the nation's two big union organizations could sit down and bury their past differences to work out a merger satisfactory to both.

A veteran union leader with 30 years in various labor posts, Meany was unanimously selected by the AFL's 14-member Executive Council to succeed the late William Green as the AFL's president. Green died last Friday after serving more than a quarter century as the AFL's top leader.

Meany had been the AFL's secretary-treasurer under Green and, during the past several years of Green's declining health, had been the major leader of the AFL's eight million members.

Named by the AFL council to succeed Meany as secretary-treasurer was William F. Schnitzler, 46, of Chicago, president of the AFL Bakery and Confectionery Workers union.

The team of Meany and Schnitzler brings a more youthful set of leaders to the big AFL organization. Many more prominent and older labor leaders were passed up to give the AFL second spot to Schnitzler.

Meany's proposal for a reunion of the labor giants drew a friendly response from Emil Rieve, senior vice president of the CIO. Rieve said in New York: "I welcome his optimism about unity between the CIO and the AFL and I hope his optimism will bring satisfactory results." Rieve is president of the Textile Workers of America.

The bid for renewed merger negotiations with the CIO comes at a time then the smaller and newer labor organization also is changing officers. CIO leaders are meeting in Atlantic City, N. J., beginning Friday to select a president to succeed the late Philip Murray. He died Nov. 9.

Allan S. Haywood, CIO executive vice president, and Walter Reuther, president of the big CIO Auto Workers union, are regarded as the leading contenders for the top CIO post. Their contest for leadership may have to be fought out on the floor of the CIO convention at Atlantic City next week.

U. S. Steel Corp. Elects Hood As New President

New York (AP) — A former Illinois farm boy, Clifford F. Hood, of Pittsburgh, yesterday was elected president of the nation's largest steel producer, United States Steel Corp., effective Jan. 1.

Hood has been executive vice president—operations of the subsidiary United States Steel Co. which will be merged into the parent concern at the beginning of 1953. The parent corporation then will become primarily an operating company.

Hood also was named a director of U. S. Steel Corp., effective immediately, and a member of the finance committee.

Benjamin F. Fairless, now chairman and president, will continue as chairman of the board and chief executive officer of U. S. Steel Corp.

500 Rounded Up

Nairobi, Kenya (AP) — British troops and native police swooped down on Kikuyu tribesmen in the troubled Thomason's Falls area at dawn yesterday and rounded up 500.

President-Elect Picks Summerfield As Postal Chief

New York (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower yesterday named two women to high government posts and chose Arthur E. Summerfield, chairman of the Republican National Committee, as postmaster general.

He appointed Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, a Democrat and original director of the Women's Army Corps, as administrator of the Federal Security Agency, and Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest of Bountiful, Utah, as treasurer of the United States.

Eisenhower said Mrs. Hobby had been asked to attend cabinet meetings because of "her vitally important position" in directing government social and welfare work although the post does not technically have cabinet rank.

Summerfield will resign as Republican national chairman before taking his cabinet post, it was announced. His appointment as postmaster general left two cabinet jobs still to be filled—secretary of labor and secretary of commerce.

Arthur E. Summerfield

Eisenhower described both Mrs. Hobby and Mrs. Priest as "outstanding women" and said their job appointments were the "first of other appointments of women in the coming administration."

"I am honored to have them participate in the affairs of the government of the United States," he said. "I am confident that they will be worthwhile additions to the public service."

Mrs. Hobby, publisher of the Houston, Tex., Post, will succeed Oscar R. Ewing. Mrs. Priest, active in the Republican party women's division, will succeed another woman, Georgia Neese Clark.

Summerfield will replace Jesse M. Donaldson.

The appointments were announced shortly after Rep. John Taber of New York, known as a "watchdog" of federal expenses, came out of Eisenhower's office with a prediction that government expenses could be trimmed by $15 billion in 1954.

Taber estimated they could be held at $65 billion, with a balanced budget and a possible slight tax reduction. The present budget is $79 billion.

The white-haired New York congressman conferred with John Foster Dulles and Gov. Sherman Adams of New Hampshire, designated respectively as secretary of state and assistant to the president in Eisenhower's forthcoming Republican administration.

He did not talk with Eisenhower, busy with a previously arranged round of conferences with political figures and personal friends at his Hotel Commodore offices.

Taber said a reduction of expenditures to the $65 billion vicinity depended on cutting military and mutual security outlays and elimination of waste in government.

The congressman advocated a streamlining of personnel in the State Department's overseas offices and its Voice of America division.

He declined to say how Dulles and Adams reacted, except to comment that he believed his proposals fell on "sympathetic ears."

Taber said he discussed with Dulles the possibility of "getting rid of the lackeys running around the world with nothing to do and building up ill will for the United States."

Concerning salaries, he said he thought those in the foreign services now were "as high as we can go."

But the expenditure "watchdog"—sometimes known to Democrats as the "meat axe"—said he "wouldn't be surprised" if some salaries in domestic operations would have to be increased to attract capable men.

He mentioned in this connection the State, Defense and Commerce Departments and the attorney general's office.

"For instance," he said, "if you had three good men getting up the broadcasts of the Voice of America, you'd get better results than with the hundreds fussing around there now."

Asked whether he thought the Republicans would have firm control of the House of Representatives, Tabor replied that "people who want good stable appropriations and economy will be in the majority."

Eisenhower lunched with Lewis W. Douglas, former ambassador to Great Britain; Lester Pearson of Canada, president of the United Nations General Assembly, and Lord Tedder, former chief of the Royal Air Force.

Former Reds Testify At Purge Court

Vienna, Austria (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia's treason trial of Reds who once had Stalin's trust drew testimony from two of the 14 prisoners yesterday that anti-Moscow conspirators had riddled the Czech Army and security police.

Karl Svab, former deputy minister of national security, and Lt. Gen. Bedrich Reicin, former deputy defense minister, took the stand before the Prague purge court and completed a stream of confessions that began with the opening of the trial last Thursday.

All 14 now have volubly pleaded guilty.

Svab, one of the three non-Jews in the accused group, said in accounts broadcast by the Prague radio that the traitors were uncovered only with his arrest with other "Zionist, Trotskyite and bourgeous nationalist" followers of Rudolf Slansky.

Reicin, one of the 11 Jews, followed Svab to the stand and was quoted as making a similar confession that "Zionists and traitors" had held high posts in the nation's defense.

The chief defendants are Slansky, former Communist boss of Czechoslovakia and former Foreign Minister Vlado Clementis, accused of treason, sabotage and espionage against President Klement Gottwald's government.

Thanksgiving Union Services Slated Tonight

Union Thanksgiving services will be held in both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg tonight at 7:30.

Methodist churches in each of the two boroughs will act as host churches for the union service.

Participating in the East Stroudsburg Union services will be the Baptist, Lutheran, Presbyterian, Christian Missionary Alliance churches, the Salvation Army and the host church, East Stroudsburg Methodist.

Rev. Harold C. Eaton, pastor of the host church, last night announced that Rev. William F. Wunder will deliver the major sermon at tonight's services.

Members of the first string East Stroudsburg High School football team will serve as ushers during the services with Jack Kist, high school coach and Clement Wiedinmyer, the borough school system's band director, acting as head ushers.

The East Stroudsburg High School band will attend in one group, Rev. Eaton said.

Highlight of the services will be a series of selections performed by the Girls Chorus and the Mixed Chorus of East Stroudsburg High School, under the direction of Miss Bettejo Goodall.

Taking part in the Stroudsburg union services tonight will be the Presbyterian, Zion Reformed and Methodist churches. The service will be held at the latter church beginning at 7:30.

Rev. Ernest Campbell, pastor of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church, will speak during the services. Rev. Campbell has chosen the 97th Psalm as the basis for his address.

Rev. Roger C. Stimson and Rev. Frank Biatt will also participate in the services. The Methodist Church choir will provide music for the worship service.

Members of all congregations are invited to attend the special services.

St. John's Plans Service Thanksgiving Morning At 8

Endeavoring to comply with the requests both of President Truman and Governor Fine, special Thanksgiving service will be conducted in St. John's Lutheran Church tomorrow at 8 a. m., according to an announcement by the pastor, Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsen. This service will last only one hour and affords everyone the opportunity of complying with the requests of our chief executives, while still able to spend the balance of the day as they see fit.

The pastor will bring a brief message on the theme, "Why give Thanks?" Robert H. Cathcart, organist and choirmaster, announced that the junior choir of 20 voices will sing "We Gather Together," a Netherlands folk song. The three choirs will sing "List to the Lark" by Dickinson and the senior choir will sing "Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem" by Maunder as an offertory anthem. He will use "O God our Help in Ages Past" by Matthews as a prelude.

Norman Wagman will serve as acolyte and Messrs. Edward Wagner, Wm. Andress, Walter Weber and Carl Wagner will serve as ushers. The altar and chancel flowers will be furnished by the A. F. Everitt class. A special offering will be received for the congregational relief fund. A cordial invitation is extended to all citizens and friends to give expression of gratitude to God as good Americans. The service will last but one hour.

Townsfolk Mark Date

By Violet Ryder Gale
Central Press Correspondent

Plymouth, Mass. — Thanksgiving is the biggest day of the year in the historic town of Plymouth, for it was in Plymouth colony 330 years ago that the Pilgrim fathers humbly offered thanks to a kind Providence for blessings which today might be considered meager.

A spectacular celebration will be staged on that day commemorating the first Thanksgiving. This traditional observance in the historic landing place of the Pilgrims has been held each year for more years than any can remember.

Last year John A. Armstrong, representative to the Massachusetts legislature from Plymouth, introduced a bill that funds be granted by the commonwealth each year for the proper observance of Thanksgiving day in Plymouth. This was passed, and is now a law. Several thousand townspeople and hundreds of visitors gather yearly for this commemoration of the original Thanksgiving.

This year, the celebration will begin with the traditional and stirring "Pilgrims' Progress," a group of citizens dressed in the sober garb of our pioneer forefathers progressing slowly from Plymouth Rock down Leyden street to the town church, in the same earnest and reverent mood that was characteristic of their ancestors over three centuries ago. Nowhere else in the world can be seen this remarkable re-enacting of the drama of the founding of a great nation.

The Pilgrimage to houses that date as far back as 1666 will be a feature of this year's celebration. These old dwellings include the famous Governor Winslow house restored and opened by the Society of Mayflower Descendants, the Harlow house, built in 1678, partly of the material of the old fort on Burial hill, the Howland house (1666), the Sparrow house and many others.

Next, at Pilgrim Memorial hall will be shown in living, crystal-clear tableaus, the outstanding events of those first days of incredible hardship—the perilous departure of the Pilgrims from Delft Haven; their safe arrival in the sheltered harbor of Plymouth; the signing of the Mayflower Compact two days after the ship came to anchor off Provinceton; making of the treaty with Massasoit that guaranteed safety to all, and return of the Mayflower to England, after "the hart of the winter was over."

Consternation is still expressed by Plymouth housewives at the 90 unexpected guests that appeared for that first Thanksgiving dinner. The talkative Squanto had been dispatched to invite Massasoit to the prayers and feast, and it was expected he would bring one or two chief tribesmen with him. When he arrived, however, he was accompanied by no less than 90 painted and feathered followers!

Congregation To Observe Thanksgiving

A Thanksgiving Day service will be held in the First Church of Christ Scientist, at 11 a. m. during which Christian Scientists will have opportunity to express gratitude to God for His unfailing goodness.

The reading of the Thanksgiving Proclamation of the President of the United States will be followed by a specially prepared lesson-sermon from the Bible and the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. Hymns and a solo will be sung.

The words of David, the Hebrew bard, constitute the Golden Text: "O sing unto the Lord a new song: sing unto the Lord, all the earth."

Rev. Cairns Plans Service

The First Pentecostal Assembly of God, South Stroudsburg, will hold a special Thanksgiving service tonight at 7:45.

Woman Injures Hand In Wringer

An East Stroudsburg RD2 woman was treated for injuries to her right hand and forearm in the dispensary at Monroe County General Hospital Monday. Mrs. Bertha Hineline, 29, suffered the injuries when she caught her right hand in a washing machine wringer.

Art Metal Grants 3.75% Wage Increase To 550 Workers

Pay Adjustment Clause Written Into Contract

Representatives of Art Metal and Local 1724, International Association of Machinists, yesterday signed a two-year contract setting up an across-the-board wage increase to all employes and provisions for a "cost of living adjustment" during 1953.

The contract is retroactive to Oct. 1, 1952 and will expire on that date in 1954. Spokesmen of both the union and the local industry joined in issuing a public statement on the agreement.

Art Metal, which is the largest industrial employer of labor in Monroe County, had been involved in negotiations with the union "several weeks", an official said.

The 1952 contract between employer and union expired on Oct. 1 this year. Negotiations for a new agreement began prior to its expiration.

Included among the "benefits" provided by the new contract is a flat 3.75 per cent wage increase "across the board" for all employes of the company. The increase will affect an approximate 550 workers at the East Stroudsburg plant.

In reaching the new agreement the negotiators wrote in a "cost-of-living" adjustment clause which will go into effect on April 1, 1953. This will permit a possible "adjustment" of wages in accordance with the cost-of-living at the date specified.

Six months after this date, the contract also provides for possible further changes in the pay structure at the plant.

On Oct. 1, 1953, the contract specifies, union and management representatives may again negotiate for wages only. This provision is contained in a "reopening wage clause" in the contract.

In one of the most drastic departures from former contracts, the company has agreed to decrease the amount of service required for an annual two-week vacation.

Under the provisions of past contracts, the service time was set at five years employment by the company. With the signing of the present contract, an employe of the company will need only three years of service before qualification for the two-week vacation period.

Changes were also authorized in company-paid hospital and group life insurance as well as improvements in plant insurance policies.

According to management and labor officials attending the meeting yesterday "improvements were also made" in the contract's seniority clause.

Participating in the final session of negotiations yesterday at the Indian Queen Hotel were H. A. Garaventi, manager of the local plant; David Hirschhorn, vice president of Art Metal; Benjamin Zuckerman, vice president and F. A. Daly, personnel manager of the local plant.

Representing local 1724 of the IAM were Adam Yockel, grand large representative of the IAM; John Cruse, president of the local; Mrs. Alice Miller, committeewoman; Paul Albertson, financial secretary; Edward Roth, shop steward at the plant; Thomas Jenkinson, chief shop steward and Joseph Andress ,recording secretary.

Also participating in the negotiations, but not present at the signing of the contract, was Emerson Stanton, business representative of District 128 of the International Association of Machinists.

The East Stroudsburg Art Metal plant is a subsidiary of Ronson Art Metal Inc., makers and distributors of Ronson lighters.

In the past 20 years the amount of money used for agricultural extension service work among Negroes in 17 Southern states has more than tripled.

By Peter Olwyler

Tomorrow's Big Meal won't cost quite so much as it did last year.

But don't expect to splurge with the saving. It amounts to only about half a buck.

The kind of meal that six people could put away with only moderate discomfort should cost around $12.43.

The same items last year would have added up to $13.03. The 60-cent difference is the price of a movie for Junior while Mom and Pop sit around digesting things.

The figures are based on a Thanksgiving menu written by Mary Hall, who teaches home economics at Stroudsburg High School.

Miss Hall lists 27 ingredients used in a typical Thanksgiving dinner.

The sum of $12.43 for a dinner sounds like a lot, but that's only $2.07 per person. It's not easy to find a place to buy a full-course home-made meal for $2.07, including the tip which isn't given. The cost, of course, doesn't include the wife-hours spent in preparation, nor the man-hours spent in dish washing.

Missus will save the most money on her 10-pound ready-for-the-oven turkey . . . it's 70 cents cheaper this year at $6.20.

Next biggest saving comes—in the quantities listed by Miss Hall—in the necessary pound and a half of butter, which is 12 cents lower at a total $1.32 and a bunch of celery, down 10 cents from last year's price of 29 cents.

Four other items listed show lower prices too. However the savings are offset by the rise in price on other items.

The biggest rise is for sweet potatoes—up to 53 cents for three pounds, nearly double last year's figure of 29 cents.

A pound of string beans will cost 11 cents more than last year's 24 cents.

Here were some of the other price drops noted: three pounds onions, down three cents; a can of pumpkin, down four; a dozen rolls, down two.

On the other hand cabbage was up a penny a head, two quarts of milk cost two cents more than last year, a can of cranberry sauce is up two, and a pound of flour up a penny.

Same price as last year was noted for such items as carrots, tomato juice, eggs, stuffing bread, mixed nuts, stuffed olives, seasoning and most staples.

The Philadelphia OPS office had an explanation for some changes. Supplies of sweets are lower than in many years

The turkey drop they laid to near-record supplies of gobblers stocked by wholesalers, with space at a premium.

Four Plead Guilty To Game Counts

Fines totaling more than $800 were assessed against four men who pleaded guilty of game law violations, Game Protector John Doebling reported yesterday.

The violations revolved aroung the killing of a buck and a doe in Cranberry Swamp near Tannersville after 10 p. m. last Thursday. Doebling said the two deer were taken to the residence of Joseph Camareri, 25, of 107 First St., Stroudsburg, where the meat was divided four ways.

Doebling said the four men were arrested the following day. In each case the parts of deer were seized as evidence.

The four were taken before Justice of the Peace Herbert G. Bonser, East Stroudsburg, for hearings.

All pleaded guilty of the charges against them, Doebling said. Camareri, a laborer, was fined $215 for assisting in the "killing of two deer in closed season." He was also accused of "use of artificial light," a practice known locally as "jacklighting deer."

Camareri's brother, Albert, of 46 Heckman St., East Stroudsburg, and John Knecht, 23, who gave his address as 1123 Dreher Ave., Stroudsburg, a truck driver, were also fined $215 each; the fourth man, Ezra Kunkle, Stroudsburg RD 2, who was not on the hunting trip but who later had accepted part of the meat, was fined $100, Doebling said.

The men were given until Saturday to pay their fines, according to Justice Bonser. All paid but Knecht, who could pay nothing, and Joseph Camareri, who was unable to pay a balance of $65.

Knecht was remanded to the county jail for 215 days, in default of payment of the fine, and Camareri for 65 days, in default of the balance of his fine.

HST May Become Poultry Farmer

Washington (AP) — President Truman talked yesterday of going back to the farm in Missouri and raising yellow-legged chickens when he leaves office.

He spoke of this possibility in a chat with a group of business paper editors who visited his office.

Lehigh Presbytery Elects Rev. Wingerter As Moderator For 45 Churches Of Region

Two local ministers were appointed to important positions in the Lehigh Presbytery yesterday at a full day meeting of that 45-church group at Oliver Presbyterian Church in Easton.

Rev. Frank Wingerter, pastor of East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church, was elected moderator for the Presbytery by the 75 professional and lay delegates attending the meeting.

Rev. Wingerter replaces retiring moderator Rev. Harry H. Haue, pastor of the Easton church which served as host for the group.

Stroudsburg Presbyterian pastor, Rev. Ernest Campbell, was elected one of two ministers who will serve as commissioners to the General Assembly of the church when that body—the highest judiciary group in the church—convenes in Minneapolis in 1953.

Two ministers and two elders are chosen each year from the Lehigh Presbytery to serve as commissioners to the assembly.

Two years ago Arlington Williams, an elder of the Stroudsburg church, was chosen to serve as a lay commissioner to the assembly. Rev. Wingerter served in the capacity of a ministerial delegate at last year's national meeting.

Rev. Robert Bradburn, pastor of the Shawnee Presbyterian Church, gave a report on church extension indicating that several sites now exist within the bounds of the Presbytery where new churches might be built.

Rev. Bradburn served as chairman of the church extension committee which conducted its investigation this year into prospective church sites in the area.

In another action, the Presbytery appointed the following local men to be members of an 11-man "camp site committee" for the proposed Presbyterian camp at Snydersville.

Arlington Williams, Stroudsburg, convener of the committee, which does not have an official chairman until after its first meeting. Williams is president of the Men's Council of Presbytery.

Rev. Frank Wingerter

Spencer Cramer, member of the Shawnee church, member of the committee.

Rev. Robert Bradburn and Rev. Ernest Campbell, members of the committee.

The six elders and five ministers who were named to the committee will be in charge of the property and its development into a camp in future actions.

Ernest Wyckoff, lay delegate to the Presbytery meeting from Stroudsburg, reported on the campaign for funds for building expansion within the Presbytery.

In 1910 farmers made up about 40 per cent of the U. S. population.

THANKSGIVING
For all things in substance given
For our faith in things to be,
For Thy Rock of mercy riven,
Give we thanks now, Lord, to Thee.
For Thy Boundless deeds of kindness,
For the Truth within Thy Word,
For the touch that healed our blindness,
Heartfelt praise we give Thee, Lord.
For the chastening rod of sorrow,
Proof conclusive of Thy love,
We give thanks, for on the morrow
We shall have grace from above.
For the present, past and future,
For the sky, the land, the sea,
For the gift of every creature,
Lord, accept our thanks to Thee.

A Tribute....
TO THANKSGIVING DAY
As was done by the Pilgrims many years ago, we give thanks for the many harvests with which God has made our lives abundant. It is fine and fitting that a plump, roasted turkey . . . symbol of Thanksgiving Day . . . should grace our table for all to enjoy. Yet it is fitting, too, that we should pause in our bountiful feasting and really give spiritual thanks to Him who has made all these things possible. Let us be reverent . . . as well as just humanly hungry . . . this Thanksgiving. Let's look beyond that table loaded with food . . . and remember our blessings in all humility!

Thanksgiving 1952

A nation is only as strong as its roots are embedded in tradition. Ours is an old tradition, continuous in the memory of all of us as long as we know. It is the tradition of the goodness of man as a reflection of God's goodness.

Those who founded this country, whether in New England, Virginia or Pennsylvania or in any of the original thirteen Colonies were deeply influenced in their thought and action by the Bible, both the Old and the New Testaments.

When they had gathered a harvest, they joined in Thanksgiving to God whose guidance they have constantly sought.

These people came to our shores seeking freedom and for the succeeding three hundred years they have been coming for the same purpose. They had either never known freedom, or had been deprived of human dignity by outrageous tyranny. There were other reasons why they left their home lands—but it was always liberty they sought, a freedom to live according to their basic traditions.

Freedom was here for the taking. It has never diminished in all the upheavals and crisis we have experienced.

That is because America has never been forsaken by God. America, therefore, must never forsake God.

On this Thanksgiving Day, this thought must come to us, for we have so much to be thankful for, we who live in America.

Another Leader Dies

William Green, for 28 years head of the powerful American Federation of Labor, is dead, the second major labor leader to pass within a period of two weeks. Although 81 years old, Green's death came with suddenness at his home in Cashocton, Ohio. Philip Murray, head of the Congess of Industrial Organizations, died 12 days before him.

Mr. Green served the Federation during some of its most turbulent days, and during his tenure in office witnessed and helped bring about far-reaching improvements in working conditions. He had the distinction of succeeding one of Labor's most notable figures, the great Samuel Gompers, the first President of the AFL.

Mr. Green, like Mr. Murray, was the son of a coal miner and worked in a mine before rising to his position of eminence in the labor movement. He was revered by his followers, and exercised a strong harmonizing influence in the huge AFL. But the harmonizing influence he had within his own group was never strong enough a lure to bring together the two great labor movements into a single union.

Both labor leaders will be remembered for their services to American democracy and to the men and women who followed them. Both had a fiercely loyal feeling for their country, and both helped in the fight to halt infiltration by Communists into the union movement. It is to be hoped that the two unions, now facing choice of new leadership, will succeed in picking men of the same high caliber as that of the leaders who have passed on.

Foil Fate

Who, in your family, is going to be injured or killed in a traffic accident?

Statistics indicate that somebody will be. The National Safety Council has figured out that, with 37,000 deaths and 1,300,000 injuries last year, one out of every two persons will become a traffic victim during his or her lifetime.

Fate can be foiled, however. Those who are extra careful in walking and driving may avoid their statistical doom.

In ancient times the deaf often were regarded as idiots and killed.

McCarran Committee Worked Out Pattern Of Subversion in Government Circles

These Days - - - - - - - - - - - By George Sokolsky

The Department of Justice

I note that "The Washington Post" wishes to revive the Presidential commission to investigate internal security and individual rights. Mr. Truman had appointed such a commission headed by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz which came to nothing. "The Washington Post" takes advantage of this discussion to sideswipe Senator Pat McCarran in the following words:

"... (The Nimitz commission's) functioning was frustrated by Senator McCarran, the powerful head of the Senate Judiciary Committee and the self-appointed grand arbiter of loyalty and security. He, blocked legislation passed by the House exempting the commission members from the conflict-of-interest statutes."

The McCarran Committee, now to be headed by Senator Homer Ferguson, has worked out the pattern of subversion in our government. While Senator McCarthy made charges, the McCarran Committee proved them. It is difficult to understand why any American newspaper would attack those who serve America.

Most Congressional investigations would have been unnecessary had the FBI been permitted to perform its proper functions. Between Harlan Stone and James McGranery, the attorneys general ignored the FBI, its capacity to gather evidence, and the precision of its service. It is no longer a secret that the FBI was disregarded in all cases that involved subversives and spies. It was not a matter of the attorneys general being Communist or pro-Communist, which they were not; nor were they less patriotic than other Americans.

It was rather that in any administration of government, in this country or in any country, those in power develop vested interests in their own mistakes. One error leads to another.

The new attorney general, Herbert Brownell, Jr., will have a wonderful opportunity to clean up this whole sorry mess. No Presidential commissions are needed to discover what is already known, namely, that Soviet Russia has invaded our country to corrupt our own sons and daughters that they might act as preparers for our enemies.

The idea of a President's commission, so far as I can discover, was first proposed in a speech by Joseph L. Rauh, Jr., chairman of the National Executive Committee of the Americans For Democratic Action, the Socialist Party which was defeated with Adlai Stevenson in the last election. In this address, delivered in 1950, the FBI was violently attacked. It is a curious attack because it denies the function of a police organization to gather evidence against those who are actively engaged in a conspiracy to destroy the United States. Actually, the object of the speech was to destroy the FBI.

Take the instance of Frank Carter Bancroft, an American in the employ of the United Nations. He says that he is an Episcopalian minister but does not work at it. As an ordained priest, he understands the moral values of an oath. In his testimony before the McCarran Committee, he fenced brilliantly with the examiners. Finally Senator Willis Smith asked him:

"Let us put the question this way: Suppose this committee or a court . . . was to say that you should answer a question, as a citizen of the United States, and Mr. Lie or somebody in proper authority at the United Nations said you should not answer it because it was contrary to the United Nations policy. Which would you obey, the United States or the United Nations?"

Mr. Bancroft replied:

"Sir, I would be on the spot, and I would be very grieved that any situation would arise in which an American would have to choose loyalty between his country and a member state of which it is such an important—I mean an international organization of which it is such an important member. I can't conceive of such a situation arising."

You would imagine that all he would have to say is that he placed his mother country first. He declined in page after page of testimony to declare for America. His excuse was that he is an international servant. He answers the usual question in the usual way:

"Senator Smith. Why do you not tell us whether or not you have been or are a Communist?

"Mr. Bancroft. Because under the Fifth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States, sir, I think I have the privilege not to do so, because it might incriminate me."

With such Americans at large, it would appear that the FBI needs to be strengthened and that the Department of Justice should cooperate in treating subversion as an active crime.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

Sam Himmell writes about a new millionaire in Scarsdale who was showing a friend around his modernistic "push-button" mansion. "This is the best gadget of the lot," he exulted. "After a night out, I sometimes feel like stepping into a nice hot bath right here without the trouble of going into the bathroom. I just press this button—." He did so and in rolled the bathtub, full of scented hot water and the millionaire's wife!

Ike Has Assigned Nixon To Federal House Cleaner Job

Washington Report - - - - By Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington — Vice President-elect Richard M. Nixon has been assigned the job of government house cleaner by the incoming President, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Nixon, who asked for and was assured additional duties when he agreed to be Eisenhower's running mate, will head a federal commission of prominent citizens and will have at his disposal investigators and legal aides who will be assigned to find the Communists and crooks still on the federal payroll.

Nixon's extra duties are only one phase of a blue print for good government being developed by Eisenhower's advisers at the present time. The incoming vice president is expected to examine every department of the Federal Government, including the cabinet rank departments, such as Justice, Agriculture and Interior. He will work outside of, but in cooperation with, Eisenhower's new cabinet appointees. He will undoubtedly be assured of Federal Bureau of Investigation assistance in a manner that other crime busters in Washington were denied because of President Truman's edict against the disclosure of executive department files.

Eisenhower plans to set up a super cabinet, staffed by prominent Americans who have an urge for public service but no particular desire for cabinet or other permanent federal employment.

The super cabinet will function out of the White House, under the incoming President's personal direction. It will operate in the fashion of the Hoover commission, and undoubtedly will recommend many of the reorganization proposals which Congress and President Truman ignored.

In addition, Eisenhower will pull in closer to the White House his liaison with government intelligence units and with Congress. He will rely on his cabinet officers to keep their own departments in good order, but will utilize his super cabinet for advise on overall government problems.

In many ways Eisenhower's plan is patterned after the staff setup used by the military services. This does not mean, however, that Eisenhower will militarize the government, despite what his Democratic critics are bound to say about the proposal when it is unveiled.

President Truman has relied on a hodge-podge of advisers from the military, the munitions board, the council of economic advisers and from outsiders who have no connection with the government. The result has been vast confusion, compounded by constant friction between cabinet members and the President's special advisers.

Eisenhower is of the opinion that cabinet members will have enough to do cleaning up and reorganizing their own departments for the first year or two of his administration. He needs, and will so inform his official family when he takes over, an advisory board of competent men who have vision and courage. They will not be hampered by petty housekeeping details, but instead will concentrate on broad government problems, both foreign and domestic. No one has been named as yet to the super cabinet. In fact, the blue print for the President-elect's administration has not yet even been completed.

Nixon's Communist cleanup chores will not conflict with the Justice Department's enforcement and prosecution activities. The current corruption inside the Justice Department, however, has made it mandatory, in Eisenhower's opinion, that an outside investigative commission be set up. The new attorney general, Herbert Brownell, Jr., will have his hands full for several months reorganizing and cleaning up his own department. There are thousands of unfinished cases, and hundreds of incompetent political hacks to be weeded out.

The same applies to almost every other federal agency. Entrenched bureaucrats will resist their new bosses. They also will resist new procedures and ideas. Getting rid of the incompetents and reorganizing the departments will be a full time job for the new cabinet officers. There will be little time for these men to direct a house cleaning, and little inclination to expect prosecution by the job holders now employed in the Justice Department. Hence a Nixon house cleaning commission, which is expected to have a tidy collection of thieves ready for a revitalized Justice Department when that agency is purged of the political fixers and ready for the job it is supposed to perform.

A full-fledged hurricane will generate more energy than 1,000 atom bombs exploded simultaneously.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

New York—There have been, in the past, countless guide books written about Manhattan — and there will be more, in an endless stream. They will tell you which are the best hotels, what's the best time to call El Morocco for a reservation, how to get theater tickets and where to park your limousine.

The error that most of these handbooks make, it appears to me, is one of omission. They don't seem to realize that everyone who comes into this snake pit can't afford the best hotels, couldn't pay the entertainment tax on an El Morocco tab, would not dream of shelling out $6.60 for a theater seat and haven't limousines or even scooters to park.

Now comes Simon and Schuster to correct this state of affairs. Simon and Schuster is an almost purely commercial book publishing house, apparently uninterested in furthering the cause of literature greatly but surefire about knowing what the public feels like reading. I doubt seriously that S. and S. ever has published a great first novel, but on the other hand I doubt they ever lost money on any book at all. Certainly I don't think they'll lose money on New York on a Modest Income, by Patricia Cummings and William Jones, which they have put out for a buck and a half in a paper-backed edition and which furnishes the most practical hints ever published on how to get along in the big town.

"We don't pretend we have eaten in every restaurant or that we slid into every second base in Central Park," the authors say modestly in their introduction—but they do go on and give you wondrous information. For example, they deal sharply, fully and unabashedly with cockroaches

The cockroach, who grows to giant size in Manhattan and has been known to fight 15-round draws with housecats of average physiques, is the scourge of every New York duplex or walk-up. They are elusive when you seek them out—but Cummings and Jones tell you what every New Yorker knows: "Turn off the lights in the room and let it remain quiet for a while. When you suddenly turn on the light they will scamper for their lairs as fast as possible." Then they go on to say how to gun for them (chlordane, or aero-sect spray made from pyrethrum, $3.98 in a comb and $1.50 in a spray can).

Modest Income offers a good list of Salvation Army secondhand furniture stores and a longer list of check-cashing services. This latter is almost a must to the impoverished newcomer to the city who has no bank account. Manhattan bank tellers have the fishiest eyes and the flattest "No's" in the world when you come to them, check in hand, and try to exchange it for coin of the realm.

There are listed the names of a half-dozen good grocery stores and the back of the book has a sizable number of restaurants where an arm and a leg are not required payment for dinner. And Cummings and Jones do not give with the old, standard guidebook line about "Now here is a delightful little restaurant we're sure you will enjoy." For example, in discussing Seventeen Barrow, a Greenwich Village eating house, they say candidly "The first time the food and music will be perfect, the next, Stravinsky's Rites of Spring will blow you out of the place and the food will be disappointing." Or, of the Athens Chop House on downtown Sixth avenue: "Undistinguished in appearance. You'd never want to take a date here for dinner, but some of the luncheon specialties are worth mentioning."

I have wished in the past that New York guidebook writers would remember that the majority of those lost souls coming here to live are young and broke. Cummings and Jones have done so. They also have included some concrete generalizations about New York that are pertinent—the fact, for instance, that a girl shouldn't take a room or apartment out in the suburbs because "few men are enthusiastic about a week-night trip to the suburbs." And they add this most valuable tip: "No matter what you do the first two weeks in New York, your costs are going to exceed both your expectations and your low budget by far."

To those coming to town this autumn—and they have begun disembarking from the buses and trains already—I would like to say solicitously, "Don't come. Heartbreak is around every corner here." But I know it wouldn't work—not if they had tried it on me 20 years ago, anyway—so I can only recommend New York on a Modest Income as a pretty good primer.

THANKSGIVING SPREAD

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

It always amuses—or rather annoys—me when I hear people say that there are no more opportunities in this country.

There is hardly a day that I do not meet some person who has recently become successful or is on the way to success by grasping "opportunity."

The only person for whom there is no opportunity is one who does not SEE an opportunity when it arises.

Opportunity is not labeled. It wears no costume.

It sort of sneaks up on you, and you have to know and grab it while it is there.

I attended a luncheon of the Banshees, a club of writers, artists, publishers, stage people and others who have made good.

It is a club to which you can belong only by invitation. There are no dues, no initiation fee, no obligations.

The most prominent entertainers in the land perform at these affairs. Jimmy Durante, Ethel Merman, Milton Berle, Mary Martin and many others of like repute have been among the entertainers.

At that luncheon we had such men as Jim Farley, Gene Tunney, General Doolittle, Bernard Gimbel, John Golden, Carlos Romulo of the Philippines, and many others of equal fame.

And almost every one there had reached success by taking advantage of his opportunity.

Opportunity knocks considerably more than once. As a matter of fact, I believe that opportunity keeps on knocking at your door almost every day.

Once a year the Banshees present a statuette called "The Silver lady" to the outstanding writed or cartoonist of the year.

This year the Banshees presented "The Silver Lady" to Harold Foster, author and artist of that wonderful feature "Prince Valiant."

If there was ever a living example of opportunity grasped, it is Harold Foster.

Foster is 60 years old now but as spry as a kid of 40.

He was born in Halifax, Nova Scotia. At 10, he was maneuvering a 30-foot boat alone in the eddying waters off Halifax. At 14, his family moved to Winnipeg. He was trapping fur-bearing animals and selling the fur. From 14 to 18 he also worked as a newsboy.

At 18, he quit school and became an office boy. In 1913 he discovered some talent for drawing and took a job with a mail order house.

In 1921, he made up his mind to take up art as his life's work. So he promptly bicycled a thousand miles to Chicago where he studied at the Academy of Fine Arts.

It was not until 1936 that he landed with King Features Syndicate to draw "Prince Valiant" —the man he wishes he were, as he puts it.

Mind you, Hal Foster did not start on his big success until he was 42.

When asked what he considered SUCCESS, he replied:

"To contribute something lasting to the sum of human knowledge or enjoyment is, to me, the real success."

Every man and every woman has somewhere in him or her some special endowment which, if properly developed, MUST lead to success.

A woman said to me the other day that she never had any "breaks."

The best break is to HEAR opportunity when it knocks, and to SEE it as it enters.

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—News today for the fighting men in Korea. Jan Sterling and her husband, Paul Douglas, will visit them again this Christmas to stage another playlet and rib Army brass all they can.

Their visit to the front last Christmas was at the suggestion of the Hollywood Co-ordinating Committee, which arranges star expeditions. This year Jan and Paul volunteered to go back. "If you're here and you could go and you don't go"—her unfinished sentence implied they'd feel awful.

She said actor Keith Andes, who accompanied them last year, was crying when they left. "You feel so guilty and think, 'How dare I leave?' After two days over there, America doesn't exist. You think, 'If I ever get to where there are clean sheets and hot water, I'll never complain again.'" A New York play commitment prevents Keith's going along this year.

The three did a 20-minute excerpt from "Born Yesterday" last year. Jan and Paul are looking for another play for this trip, she whispered on the sidelines between shots of "Split Second."

Besides acting, they tell jokes. I asked what kind they'd found went over the best. "Anything against the brass, anything that pertains to the life they're living," the beautiful, baby-faced, big-blue-eyed blonde replied. "If there's some real starchy guy they don't like, a lieutenant maybe, we work his name into the joke."

Miss Sterling recalled some of the highlights of last year's trip: Traveling from one show to another in Piper Cub planes—one performer per plane . . . The orange flash of artillery she saw from the air at night while the pilot calmly assured her they were above the shells . . . Doing shows while U. S. artillery shells whistled overhead from near positions . . .

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

The Bishop Swims A Channel

What makes the Bishop tick on TV? How come a preacher is one of the biggest features of Tuesday night video? Who can explain how it has happened that a sermon, long the butt of jokes about putting people to sleep, and until now regarded as a sure flop in the entertainment world, today gives some of television's top attractions stout competition? These are questions arising as Bishop Fulton J. Sheen gets a flying start on his second year on TV under a $2,000,000 contract, the money to go to charity and missionary work. The answers are not tough. The Bishop has plenty on the ball in looks, manner, equipment and message. He is that rarity among men, a man who seems to be performing in Technicolor even when limited to black and white. He is without stuffiness and he knows the value of a laugh.

The Bishop has a certain something that is found in stars of stage, baseball diamonds, sandlots and the chapel. In his face and jauntiness there is a flash of the big-league athlete, the top Broadway dramatic actor and the crusader who is a "regular guy." He has a blazing intensity as he hammers home a spiritual point. You know he is, above all, a battler for faith. But you feel he could hit safely over second, slide safely into third, score on a forward pass or do well in the fifty-yard dash. You feel that if you knew him you could enjoy a good spiritual talk and then get him to box a couple of rounds, play ball in the back yard or pitch horseshoes. In him is the quality that sets a great actor apart from the rest of the cast and makes one big-league pitcher a more glowing personality to the fans than another. He has the stuff that registers across a crowded room, a crowded stadium a crowded TV theater and a crowded cathedral.

He is a TV sensation because there is in him a little Arthur Godfrey a little Joe DiMaggio, a little Barry Fitzgerald. He is a terrific speaker and deadly serious in socking home a message for the church. His talks crackle, but even in his most serious moments you sense a laugh line dead ahead. The Bishop is a "natural." In a manner of speaking, he is the first great channel swimmer the church has produced. He is a Roman Catholic, and his success is certain to bring great clergymen to TV from other faiths. The Protestant and Jewish faiths have them. It is just a matter of the right video touch. For, make no mistake, the church is going to score heavily on video, for it can bring chapel and cathedral right into the living room.

Bishop Sheen is just the trail breaker, the first clergyman to go over big on TV. The idea is going to spread. And more power to it! A video program on which the jackpot is spiritual replenishment is the need of the hour.

Jackie Gleason, video comic, is to be grand marshal of the Macy Parade . . . But he has reduced to a size where he won't be able to float over buildings . . . Arthur Godfrey devoted an hour to feats of magic recently and got so involved in disappearing acts that he made even the commercial vanish . . . In the finale, Arthur and a white horse came out of a magic cabinet and in our house a kid chirped "Betcha he can't turn the horse into a ukeleie." . . . Johnnie Ray got a great welcome in his Oregon home town . . . The town that couldn't see him certainly must have heard him . . . All the schools were closed for the day so the kiddies could go out and see a boy who had grown up to lose interest in being President . . . Now that Rudolph Halley is on the video how about a title for the program? . . . "Halley Oops!" . . . Or "Sallies in Our Halley?" . . . A necklace was auctioned in New York the other day from Technicolor movies of it, and brought $98,500 . . . We can't help wondering if at a movie like this the bidders were furnished with buttered popcorn.

Eldred Twp. Breaks Ground For New School

Building To Be Erected At Kunkletown

Kunkletown—Ground was broken yesterday just west of here for the $123,154 elementary school for Eldred Township.

Commencement of work marks the second building in the past week under construction for the jointure of five townships in the West End. The elementary school in Hamilton Township, on Route 12 between Sciota and Saylorsburg, was started last Wednesday and contracts for $282,487 already have been awarded for that structure.

The building here will house approximately 122 pupils of grades one through six. They have been attending classes in five one-room schools, all slated for abandonment.

The single-story building will be of brick construction and will have four class rooms, an all-purpose or utility room to be used as a cafeteria, auditorium and gymnasium, boiler room, lavatories and office space for four teachers.

Slutter and Fazio, Stroudsburg contractors, received the general contract bid for $86,335. Other awards went to Anthony A. Audakimow, of Hazleton for heating, $16,334 and plumbing, $12,290. The electrical contract was awarded William A. Dunmoyer Co., of Allentown, for their bid of $8,195.

The building, 62 by 166 feet, is expected to be completed by July, 1953, and ready for occupancy by the next school term. The lot includes five acres and was purchased from Henry Male, of Pen Argyl, for $4,500.

Hamilton Township's school was started by the general contractor, Paul L. Edinger, of Stroudsburg, whose bid was $132,539. M. F. Weiss, of Brodheadsville, received the award for heating and plumbing for his respective bids of $22,698 and $17,400. The electrical contract bid went to Matthew Keim, of Stroudsburg for $9,850.

After the initial donation of approximately eight acres an additional nine acres were purchased for $3,600. The building will house seven classrooms, a utility room, boiler room, lavatories and office for seven teachers.

At the next meeting of the joint school board, scheduled for Dec. 4, the site for the joint high school is expected to be established. Present plans call for utilizing Polk Township High School for grades one through six; sending pupils of the first six grades of Ross and Chestnuthill Townships to the present Chestnuthill High School. This will mean the elimination of two one-room schools in Ross where children now attend classes in grades one through five, it was learned.

F. W. Shafer, M.D., will be out of town Nov. 27 to Dec. 1, inc.—Adv.

Chemistry Contributes To Building

Few laymen are aware of the major role which chemistry has assumed in providing the public with more and better building materials.

So successful have been the efforts of science in this direction that many commonly used building items are seldom thought of as the products of chemical change induced by researchers.

Among these are such extensively used materials as lime, plaster, portland cement, gypsum board, insulating board, brick and terra cotta. Hardboard and plywood also are results of chemical achievements.

One group of synthetics boasts many of the desirable properties of natural lumber and stone, yet possesses other valuable characteristics unique in the building materials field. This group, known as asbestos-cement products, is gaining widespread popularity for a variety of uses in construction of homes, farm buildings, industrial and commercial structures.

The products are produced in the form of flat sheets and corrugated sheets, siding shingles and roofing shingles. The flat and the corrugated sheets, employed both for exterior and interior construction uses, also are suited for a multitude of miscellaneous purposes.

Asbestos-cement products are made by subjecting a combination of asbestos fibers and portland cement to tremendous hydraulic pressure. Strong and rigid, the products perform the structural functions of lumber in many of their applications. Because their component minerals are incombustible, however, the products are fireproof. Additionally, they are immune to rust, rot, and decay. Their inorganic nature also renders them resistant to rodents.

Precautions Save Remodeling Work

Whenever there's remodeling going on at your house, a few simple precautions will save you much cleanup grief. Place shoe wiping mats here and there between the in-repair part of the house and the life-as-usual section. Or spread strips of building paper along the traffic lanes to prevent the grinding of grit into your floors. A vacuum is your best bet for disposing daily of the excess litter and soil.

Shower Height Personal Choice

The height of the shower head in a shower cabinet is now entirely a matter of personal choice. By means of a new punching device, the plumber who installs the cabinet can locate the head at any point desired by the owner, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Store Plastic Toys Carefully

Plastic toys, beach balls and wading pools should be stored properly so they'll give good service next year. Such play-things should be deflated, washed carefully with soap and water, rinsed and dried. Sprinkle talcum powder on them to prevent sticking and tearing. Store where it is cool, dark and dry.

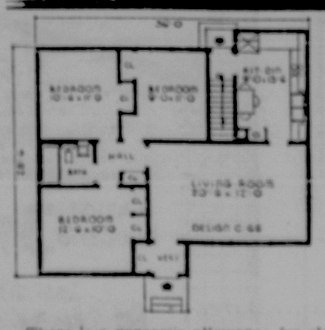

Paneled Doors Made Modern

Old paneled doors en be converted into modern-style flush doors by covering the two sides with sheets of one-eighth inch hardboard. The hardboard should be attached to the door with one inch barbed nails. If there's any trim on the door, it should be planed down to that the sheets of hardboard fit evenly.

Use Of Varnish-Stain

Instead of applying stain and then varnish, a varnish-stain is sometimes used. This material is applied in the same manner as clear varnish.

THE COOPER is shown with exterior walls of frame with wide siding. But because of The Cooper's low walls and lack of gables the plan is also ideal for the use of concrete blocks. The Cooper has three bedrooms. All three of the bedrooms are grouped around a small hall. There is a kitchen planned to have ample space for dining. The large living room called for in The Cooper's plan can also be used for dining, due to its easy accessibility to the kitchen.

There is a generous allowance for closets in The Cooper. Every one of The Cooper's three bedrooms has plenty of closet space. There is a convenient coat closet in the front vestibule. There is a linen cabinet in the bedroom hall and the kitchen is equipped with a handy broom closet. Plans provide a low roof line with wide overhanging eaves on The Cooper. The low roof is to be covered with asphalt shingles. The main body of The Cooper is 36 feet by 24 feet. It includes a full basement. It has an area of 969 square feet with 19,089 cubic feet. For further information about The Cooper, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud Minn.

Book Deals With Low Cost Housing

A 16-page illustrated pamphlet featuring low-cost housing projects built over the nation has been published by the National Association of Home Builders. Entitled "Low Cost Housing in Action," the booklet was the outgrowth of a conference held last May in Memphis, Tenn., to stimulate construction of low cost homes for rent and for sale.

The booklet explains that, for the first time, builders are showing each other their cost-cutting trade secrets. Homes shown in the booklet, ranging from $5700 to $10,290, were erected by a combination of such techniques as cutting sheds maintained on the site for speed in materials cutting; setting up of coded systems for shipping and receiving materials; extensive use of power equipment; bonus arrangements to subcontractors for maintaining rigid schedules, excellent supervision, built-in jigs on job site; long amortization and volume production, quantity buying; low administrative overhead and specialization of crews.

Asphalt-Asbestos Fibers Leakproof

A wood shingle roof that has too many leaks for individual patching can be made to last several years longer by coating it with a good roofing compound of asphalt and asbestos fibers.

Nail down all loose shingles first and split, flatten and nail curled shingles.

The compound successfully fills holes and cracks.

Read Before Painting

In your eagerness to begin painting, don't open a new can of paint before you acquaint yourself thoroughly with the directions on the label. Once the can is opened and you stir the contents or pour them into another container, splashes or "runs" of the paint may obscure some of the printed information you need.

Wash Curtains Frequently

Long and full dimity curtains made to order for the famous Thomas Jefferson home "Monticello," are washed and ironed frequently. The fabric expert who wove them says that frequent washing prolongs their life considerably.

Homemakers who keep their curtains and draperies spic-and-span by frequent trips to the washer know this to be true. Dust and dirt left in any fabric for any length of time will weaken it, thus keep it from lasting as long as it should.

Priming Coat Protects House

If a new house is to be painted and it is felt that there may be danger from the moisture in the wood or in the plaster, apply a priming coat of paint and delay the application of the finishing coats for two or three weeks. The priming coat of paint being a single coat, allows the moisture in the wood or plaster to evaporate more readily. For a while this priming coat prevents any substantial amount of rain from coming in and causing warping and shrinking of the wood.

Colonial Charm

A charming Early American dining room has walls painted a deep, dull blue, a beamed ceiling and random-width planks for the floor. A pine trestle-table is placed beneath a wide window which overlooks a garden. Pewter plates and tankards gleam on the shelves of a Welsh cupboard. Draperies are russet in tone. The russet hue is repeated in the hand-hooked rugs on the floor.

The smallest star is believed to be about 2,500 miles in diameter, says the National Geographic Society.

Forgotten Attic Put To Good Use

You're missing a wonderful bet if your attic is just the usual overhead junk heap.

In an article in Esquire, "Three Attics for Fun," architectural editor Jule R. von Sternberg offers three suggestions for converting the long-forgotten attics of America into attractive and functional living space.

If's first idea is to turn the attic into a rooftop theater where on a small stage, you can put on family productions or show home movies.

Or, if you have several young boys in the family, turn the unused upper-story into a big, full-floor bed-and-game room. Cabinets, beds, desks, can be built in, leaving no more serious furnishing problem than a few chairs and some light fixtures.

Or, why not turn the attic into a penthouse club room, where the whole family can relax with a TV set, radio-phonograph, bar, or whatever else you care to include?

Included in the article are suggestions for making ungainly attics more livable. For instance, to heighten a wide but too low attic, raise the middle section of the roof on new side walls. Widen a too narrow attic with a strip dormer window extending full length of the new room.

Longer Linoleum Life

To preserve the surface of linoleum, it is often varnished or lacquered. A final coating of wax aids greatly in keeping the surface clean and in warding off blemishes and other signs of wear.

Hardwood Plywood Has Many Uses

Hardwood plywood has well over 2000 uses, both decorative and structural. Its more common uses are in the manufacture of furniture, pianos, television and radio cabinets, watercraft, railroad streamliners, trailers, store equipment, elevator cabs and interior wall paneling for homes and office buildings.

Dust Held By Leaves

Plant leaves are charged with "positive" electricity. Henry D. Bowen of Michigan State College, knowing this, has constructed a duster which charges the dust particles with negative electricity. When plants are dusted much more of the charged dust is held to the leaves.

State Erects 42 Miles Of Snow Fence

Winter hasn't really arrived until the long lines of snow fence begin marching thinly along the curves and barren stretches of the highway.

In Monroe County the last of more than 42 miles of such fencing is being erected.

It snakes alongside parts of all the State-maintained highways . . . sometimes in lengths as short as 15 yards, or as long as 150.

Snow fence, a contraption of wood and wire designed to keep the drifts from piling up on the highway itself, is strictly seasonal. Highway department crews start putting it up at the beginning of November.

The law says it must be down by April 1 of the following year.

Highway superintendent Arthur Dinstel, Brodheadsville, says 30 men work less than a month to place the 225,000 feet of fence.

The weather makes considerable difference in just how much of a job it is to put up the fence or take it down. This season the crews had tough work driving in the iron supports because of the long dry spell. Rain softened the ground just about the time when most of the fence was already up. If frost gets into the ground, as it has in some years, the iron stakes are even harder to drive.

In the springtime the ideal circumstances are a thaw and soft wet earth. The stakes pull up easily then. If the frost is still in the ground the stakes come up hard—but the work must be done anyway. The law—which says "April 1"—won't wait for the weather.

WHEN THE SNOW FLIES, thank these highway department men for putting up the snow fencing which enables you to drive without getting stuck in a drift. Here a typical crew of five men near Brodheadsville erects the last of the 18,000 feet (more than three miles of fence they've put up this season. Wood-and-wire fencing rolls up for storage. Lions Honor Frank Snyder

Stroudsburg Lions at their dinner meeting in the Penn-Stroud ballroom last night, paid honor to Secretary Harold Snyder, received reports on the attendance contest now at the half-way mark, heard an interesting talk by William Hinton, who told of a tour of Italian roof gardens when he was drummer in an American orchestra, inducted two new members, and heard the plans for the coming Christmas season outlined by toy chairman Robert Haigh. Haigh distributed a large amount of dolls to the members, and their ladies will be asked to dress these toys for distribution to under-privileged children at Christmas.

Joseph Kovarick presented Secretary Snyder on behalf of the club with a token gift, a framed tablet of the Lions code of ethics. This has a venerable history in the local club having belonged to former Presidents Lowell H. Cross and William P. Deering and ornamented the walls of their offices. Secretary Snyder will be entitled to keep it until an illuminated scroll, reciting his own services to the club is ready for him. Kovarick told of the many-sided job the secretary does for the club and of the expert way in which Snyder has done it for five years.

Mr. Snyder responded, stating that he has always tried to do any job that falls to him with efficiency and according to the rules. He was very much touched by the honor given him.

The new members were inducted by Past President Dr. James Gavin. They are William Rogolinsky and Dannie McAuliffe.

Mr. Haigh, who heads the Christmas toys committee paid a tribute to the late Richard Groner, who had been chairman for many years. In order to cover the work effectively the new chairman said he would appoint a special committee to include Lions Phillips, Kovarick, Snyder, Gavin, Somers, Kitchen and Grant.

The ladies of the Lions will be asked to dress the dolls and to return them not later than December 23 on which meeting night the members will pack toys for the underprivileged children. These will be delivered by truck the next day.

Formal reports of the half way mark of the attendance contest showed Sam Everitt's team in the lead with those of Somers and DeRenzis tied for second place and that of Kintz fourth.

Bill Hinton told of being drummer in an American orchestra on Italian luxury liners in 1936. The orchestra went over on the Augusta in May of that year, landing at Naples where they left the ship at 7 a. m. one Sunday and had a job ashore by 8. This was playing at a roof garden and it led to the players becoming acquainted with Crown Prince Christopher of Greece. In fact the representative of royalty and the American boys became buddies and, when he entered a concert room where they were playing he would call to them across the room and they would shout in return, "Hi, Princie, old boy". At first this familiarity scandalized the Italian night-clubbers but soon it caused them to be over-awed and the Americans were never out of a job. On one occasion the prince called for a second piano and played along with the orchestra. One night club in Rome, not an aristocratic place, found its fortune made by one night of this. Attendance sparse and business slow the first night, it was jammed to the doors from then on.

Draft Board To Induct 26 In December

Monroe County Draft Board 105 will call 26 men for induction into the armed forces next motnh, it was disclosed yesterday. The men will report Dec. 9 at the Wilkes-Barre Induction Station.

The board also will summon 26 men for pre-induction physical examinations Dec. 15 at Wilkes-Barre.

Pike County Board 148, Milford, will call six men for induction Dec. 9 and five for pre-induction exams Dec. 15.

Wayne County Board 166, Honesdale, will induct 20 men Dec. 12 and order exams for 25 on Dec. 17.

POCONO MOUNTAIN FUTURE FARMERS of America Chapter officers who will serve 1952-53 were elected this week at a meeting in Tannersville. They are Alfred Frantz, Stroudsburg, sentinel; Richard Nelson, Chestnuthill, treasurer; Neal Murphy, Polk, reporter; Paul Miller, Bangor, president; Donald Mack, Pen Argyl, vice president; Robert Fields, Pocono, secretary.

Area Future Farmers Elect Officers For School Year

Tannersville—Nearly 70 members of the Pocono Mountain Area, Future Farmers of America, attended an area meeting Monday at Pocono Township High School for the election and installation of officers for the 1952-53 school year.

The following new officers were officially installed for the coming year:

Frank Miller, Bangor, president; Donald Mack, Pen Argyl, vice president; Robert Fields, Pocono, secretary; Richard Nelson, Chestnuthill, treasurer; Neal Murphy, Polk, reporter and Alfred Frantz, Stroudsburg, sentinel.

Charles Hoffman, president of the Chestnuthill chapter, presided at the meeting during which reports were given by a representative from each chapter affiliated with the area group.

Reports on the National FFA convention were given by Paul Lockard and Frank Miller of Bangor.

Teachers attending the meeting were Frank Varney, Chestnuthill; Clifford Stroud, Polk; Elmer Veety, Stroudsburg; John Montgomery, Pocono; Theodore Hoffman, Pen Argyl and Wilmer Frisbie, county vocational agriculture supervisor.

Montgomery discussed a program of work which might be undertaken by individual chapters and the area group as a whole and showed a 45-minute motion picture on work projects.

ALL NEW, ANODIZED ARLITE ALUMINUM WINDOWS
a far better buy because they're better by far

ARLITE makes housewives happier . . .

Yes, the home is a happier place when you install Arlite windows. Weather worries will be a thing of the past, and you'll be prouder than ever of your more beautiful windows and home.

WASHING WINDOWS is a snap. Just turn open the exclusive "Track Spreader," and the light, aluminum windows come out in seconds from the inside. No more acrobatics or hanging dangerously out the windows to wash them on the outside.

DRAFT FREE VENTILATION—Just open the lower Arlite window and your upper regular window. You can enjoy fresh air in the middle of winter with no drafts.

MORE EVEN HEAT is assured because the cold areas near your windows are completely eliminated, and a steadier temperature is maintained throughout your rooms.

ROOMS STAY CLEANER because dust and dirt are kept out. Laundry bills are lower, too, because curtains and drapes stay cleaner longer.

YOUR HOME IS YOUR PALACE!

FINGER-TIP OPERATION—Lightweight aluminum panels glide smoothly in felted grooves with frictionless ease. There's no metal to ride on metal and no spring pressure to fight in raising or lowering. Can never bind, stick or rattle.

DURITE ANODIZED—Beautiful satin frame finish on ARLITE windows provides complete protection from effects of the weather. It's produced by an exclusive, patented anodizing process.

THE EXCLUSIVE DESIGN FEATURES OF ARLITE give superiorities that make them the leaders in the window field and justify the claim of "America's Most Modern Window." Some of the principal superiorities are the following:

——the "MAGIC CLUTCH" of stainless steel, a patented feature exclusive to Arlite permits universality of operation of the three panels on the triple track. It gives real finger-tip operation for the first time. The "MAGIC CLUTCH" is the heart of new ventilation control.

——the "UNIQUE TRACK SPREADER" enables convenient and immediate removal of the panels for cleaning. It, too, is exclusive to Arlite and is a patented feature.

There Are Many Satisfied Users Of ARLITE Windows In This Area. Ask the People Who Have Them.

ARLITE makes husbands happier . . .

When you install Arlite windows, you'll have more time left for pleasure because you'll have less nuisance chores around the house. Your home will look better, and will be worth more, too.

NEVER CHANGE WINDOWS. You need never climb a ladder juggling a heavy storm sash or screen again. You change seasons by simply sliding up one panel, and the other down from the inside.

ENDS COSTLY REPAIRS. The bother and trouble of twice-a-year refitting, repainting, and repairing will be yours no more. Once Arlite windows are installed, they stay in for life.

SAVES YOU WORK—No more lugging heavy windows and screens back and forth twice a year, and no more of the resulting sore muscles and backstrain.

SAVES YOU MONEY—Arlite windows cost less than you might think. They pay for themselves in just a few seasons with what you save on fuel bills alone.

PM Club Hears Former Member Tell of Air Force

Swiftwater — The members of the women's PM Club of Swiftwater were given a special treat when they assembled for their November meeting at the home of Miss Audrey Hamblin, Miss Virginia Haney, a former member, who recently returned from eight years service with the Air Force, related many of her experiences which held the girls spellbound.

Games were played, with prizes going to Mrs. Charles Layton and Mrs. John Hamblin, with a special hostess gift to Miss Haney.

The Thanksgiving theme was carried out on the refreshment trays, which included tomato juice, canapes, miniature sandwiches representing the Mayflower, pie a la mode, coffee, and small maple sugar Puritans and Pilgrims, and served to the following: Mrs. John Lindstedt, Mrs. David Neison, Mrs. Anthony Bolyn, Mrs. Willard Webster, Mrs. Glen Boote, Mrs. William McCoy, Mrs. John Hamblin, Mrs. Norman Fanseen, Miss Virginia Haney, Mrs. Charles Layton, Mrs. Carl Hamblin, and the hostess Miss Audrey Hamblin.

The next meeting will be in the form of a family Christmas party, the time and place to be announced later.

Dance Postponed

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Some days things get awfully confused. Or maybe it's just individuals who are confused. Certainly I was, when right in the middle of the broadcast yesterday morning, both dogs who'd been sleeping quietly at my feet suddenly began racing around and barking like crazy.

Even opening the door and letting them out didn't stop the hubbub since they immediately pounced on a visiting hound, who added his yelps to the general uproar.

The whole day was like that, sort of, with the general feeling that this was just a mild nightmare from which you'd wake shortly to find everything proceeding in its usual orderly fashion.

Except you were already awake. This is certainly not the mood in which to settle down to general Thanksgiving. So maybe just to get straightened around, we'd better reassure ourselves on a couple of points.

The same points we always point out for others: a) it could be a lot worse; b) other people's troubles are much worse; and c) you'll feel better tomorrow.

Nope, they don't help, either. So I guess we'll have to take comfort in the thought that when annoyances become too numerous they become ridiculous; and when it gets too ridiculous you can begin to see the funny side; and we'd just better be thankful that our troubles are the kind that you can laugh at — even if only in retrospect.

Listen To

Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:15 a.m.

MRS. SPEENER SMITH, the former Miss June L. Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, of Saylorsburg, who was married on Saturday, November 15, in the parsonage of the Kunkletown Reformed Church by Rev. A. A. Bohner.

Kellersville WSCS To Buy Pulpit Furniture

Kellersville—The Woman's Society of Christian Service met at the Kellersville Church on Thursday, November 20 with Mrs. Ruth Rinker presiding.

Mrs. Claire Singer read a story on courage based on the experiences of a woman in a Tuberculosis Sanitorium who found an ailing body could not tether an active mind.

At the business meeting, the group voted to purchase a pulpit scarf, a Bible book marker, a Communion scarf, and a communion table which is to be built by a local carpenter. They also will furnish a cross and candlesticks.

A Christmas party was planned for December 18 when all members will bring their secret pal gifts, revealing themselves to their pals for the past year.

Women wishing to join the society are invited to attend the Christmas party.

Those present at the meeting were Mrs. Brad Randall, Mrs. J. O. Kirkhuff, Mrs. Florence Metzgar, Mrs. Katie Remmel, Mrs. Ruth Rinker. Visitors were Mrs. Virginia Beers and Mrs. Barbara Randall. Mrs. Claire Singer and Mrs. Mabel Singer served refreshments to the group.

State League Convention Here In May

The Pennsylvania Planned Parenthood League plans to hold a three-day convention at Pocono Manor in May, it was announced at a luncheon meeting of the Monroe County Committee on Monday at the Indian Queen Hotel.

Walter H. Scott, president of the Pennsylvania Planned Parenthood League, was the guest speaker at the luncheon and announced plans for the state convention here.

Mr. Scott also announced that the state league is planning a series of lectures at many Protestant seminaries in Pennsylvania and has completed a list of 150 doctors to whom patients in areas remote from established clinics could go.

Mr. Scott said that he has observed an increased interest in planned parenthood by many groups of men, especially as it concerns international politics. He said that in many sections of the state, ministers' organizations have representatives on the local boards.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

The staff of WVPO had quite a chuckle the other morning when they saw that Millie had typed the programs for the day listing, at 9:45, Wyckoff's Hopper. Looking back over today, with the telephone ringing at ninety second intervals, and everyone including a gentleman hanging wreaths, walking past the desk, I'm not at all sure that Milly wasn't gazing into a crystal ball as she wrote . . . I haven't a crystal ball, but if I did, I'd be trying to see whether or not Santa Claus has one of those beautiful Jantzen sweaters in his sack for me. Or a Catalina in black with an embossed floral design in white—sophisticated in the way black and white combinations always are . . . In yesterday's Journal and American, columnist Inez Robb described a little whimsy known as an "ermine sweater", being offered in the plush (or should we say "sable") Fifth Avenue specialty shops. This isn't for me, naturally, and probably not for you. But as I wander through our store, it seems that the most appealing gifts are the kind every Susie and Joe can hope to receive. It isn't money that makes a thing worth having—it's the ingenuity that has gone into its conception; the skill shown in the completed article and its quality—plus the feeling of affection that simply MUST accompany every really successful gift . . . Even if I can't have a sweater of ermine (or even an ermine tail jabot, for that matter) I can at least dress up the Christmas tree stand with soft, fluffy glamour. Non-inflammable Sparkle-Tex, size 32 by 64 inches sells for only a dollar, and is a beautiful drape for the tree base. Of snowy wadding, it is dotted everywhere with shimmery squares of red, silver, and green. It rates a BIG A when you're planning decoration . . . Bill Wells had a marvelous time at the Paradise Township PTA meeting the other evening when he talked about educational toys for children. As he remarked on the radio yesterday, the parents had a wonderful time also, playing with the toys Bill took along to illustrate his remarks. Just between us, Wyckoff's toyland is a very satisfactory playground for adults these days, so do come in. You can experiment with all the "funciful" new toys for boys and girls, without anyone guessing that you're turning back the pages to the time YOU stood at Santa's knee and told him what you would like for Christmas . . . Come to think of it, if Santa's going to put anything in my stocking this year, he'd better bring the stocking. These Granites of mine have worn practically forever, and had better be replaced before they run out on me . . . This being the last column before Thanksgiving, I'd like to wish all of you a truly lovely holiday, both for myself and for Wyckoff's. We are thankful for YOU, and hope that in some measure you are thankful for us for the part we play in making Stroudsburg such a progressive, flourishing small city. And we are thankful for our nation and its dreams. So feast away and have a happy day.

Doctors Urge Regular Tests For Cancer

An Investment Day program was held for community commanders of the Monroe Unit of the Cancer Society at the Stroud Community House on Monday.

Dr. Horace Butler, radiologist at Monroe General Hospital gave a talk in the morning on the treatment in cancer cases and Dr. M. J. Leitner, pathologist at the hospital, spoke in the afternoon. Both doctors stressed the importance of frequent examination by family physicians since early discovery means a better chance of saving lives. Films were shown illustrating the insidious growth of cancer cells once started, and how fear and delay can prove fatal. Mrs. J. Stewart Williams, field representative from Wilkes Barre, gave information on the work done in Harrisburg at the Pennsylvania Division headquarters. She also told of work accomplished by community commanders in other counties of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Frederick J. Trumpbour, county captain of the unit announced that some 30 women have expressed willingness to serve as representatives of their own township or community. Her purpose in this cancer crusade is an attempt to establish contact with every family possible in the outlying districts of the county. The latest literature and pamphlets will be sent periodically to the county commanders and they in turn with their co-workers will keep their community informed on what the society is doing and will do for cancer patients. Another goal will be an education and publicity project whereby people will be told of the danger signals and the necessity of heeding them.

Mrs. Trumpbout informed the meeting that a list of 16 doctors is posted at the information center at 615 Sarah St., Stroudsburg, who are cooperating in giving the five point detection check-up. Free cancer dressings may be obtained from Mrs. John Stanford, service chairman, at the center upon recommendation of a doctor. Mrs. Russell Baggot is at the center on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays, from 1 to 5 p.m. to answer all questions and arrange nursing care for the medically indigent.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Paul Barry and Mrs. H. W. Baumann, Henryville; Mrs. Karlene M. Muddell, Snydersville; Mrs. Theodore Viechnicki, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Roy Shoesmith, Mountainhome; Mrs. Corona Keiser, Bossardsville; Mrs. Vernon L. Wallace, Bartonsville; Mrs. Herman Lax, Mrs. Esther Diamond, Mrs. Milo Singer, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. E. E. Boone Jr., Buck Hill Falls; Mrs. Floyd Wilmoth, Kunkletown; Mrs. Philip Pasquine, Mountainhome.

Junior High Plans Program

East Stroudsburg Junior High School students will commemorate Thanksgiving this morning with a special program by the Seven D homeroom.

The combined choruses of the school, under the direction of Miss Bettejo Goodall will sing three selections following the opening exercises. Nancy Osborne will sing a solo number accompanied by Miss Marguerite Cramer.

A special play—"Thanksgiving Fashions"—will then be presented by a cast chosen from the home room.

Appearing in the play will be Joan Marsh as a modern girl, Sue Wicks as a young Puritan girl and Robert Kassay as one of the Pilgrim Fathers.

The final number on the program will be called "Thanksgiving Footsteps" and will feature definitive dances patterned after authentic folk dances which were common in each of several different ages described by a narrator.

Dancers for this presentation will be the following: English country dance—Helen Poortstra, Barbara Kanmer, Barbara Altier, Joan Myers, Pat Williams, Jeannette Strunk; Dutch dance—Vicky Hoehne, Nancy Shannon, Ellen Mazer, Sharon Read, Dehlia Stauffer, Gale Taylor, Bobby Cree, George Tough, Tommy Kintner, Wesley Werkheiser, Horace Cole and Ronald Mursch.

Modern dance—Anna Marie Bryner, Beverly Harrison; modern calisthenics—Eleanor Gilliland, Pauline Mickey, Mildred Stetler, Elaine Price, Clara Strunk, Kay Lesoine, Pat Rinker, Janet Snyder; accompanists—Phyllis Fuls; announcers—Barbara Schuler, Stanley Melvin; baton twirling—Lois Lambert.

Costumes for the program were arranged by Carolyn Counterman, Lois Lambert and Shirley Klinger. Stage managers will be Sandra Thek, Willard Burch and Clinton Pugh. The program was arranged by Seven D homeroom teacher, Mrs. Melva Reid.

High School Girls Prepare Turkey Dinner

Stroudsburg High School junior and senior vocational class girls are destined to enjoy two full Thanksgiving dinners this year.

The first of these—prepared as a cooperative venture by the girls in the class—was served yesterday at 2:30 p.m. in the dinette adjoining the kitchen in the home economics department at the school.

Four students—Wally Adelmann, Ray Hogrelius, Marlene Sabatine and Evelyn Biladeau—and two teacers—Jerry Stulgaitis and Mrs. Sarah Williams—were honored guests at the dinner.

Members of the class who helped prepare the "turkey and all the trimmin's" were Marian Williams, who was official hostess for the girls; Gloria Flynn, Linda Layton, Eileen Smith, Nancy Fritz, Ann Holdorff, Dorothy Paul, Gladys Hoffner, Barbara Hoffner, Mary Schneider and Betty Marsh.

Ninette Fenner and Shirley Butz helped prepare the dinner and also served as waitresses. Miss Mary Hall is in charge of the class.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Tomorrow will be Thanksgiving Day, a day that has been set aside annually for giving thanks and it has withstood all sorts of changes since the days of the Pilgrims and their first settlement in Massachusetts. Many ways have been devised to celebrate this holiday, one of which is the football game tomorrow between Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High Schools at Memorial Stadium. True, its a football game, but upon closer examination it is even more important than a mere game to the people of Monroe County.

I hope that each person who makes his way into Memorial Stadium tomorrow will just stop for a moment and give thanks that he and his fellow spectators are able to be present at a spectacle of this type. I hope each paying customer will extend that moment of thanks to include his being a resident of the United States and of Pennsylvania. The United States is one of the few nations of the world that can do justice to a Thanksgiving Day celebration.

The United States is one of the few nations that could even think of presenting a spectacle of the type that will unfold itself before 4,000 or 5,000 peopel at Memorial Stamium tomorrow. To qualify for this biggest of big struggles, as far as the local area is concerned, the boys involved had only to prove themselves as football players this season. There was no segregation because of race, creed or color, occupation of parents didn't count a bit and the social standings of various families involved was never even considered.

Before us tomorrow, starting at 10 a. m., we will see democracy at work, democracy in its purest form. Boys of various races, creeds and colors will play opposite each other and against and with each other. The only thing that matters in tomorrow's contest will be the color of the player's shirt. If his jersey is maroon he's from Stroudsburg and will be the target of the East Stroudsburg contingent which will be attired in White and vice-versa. Shirts and not politics and past associations will be the important thing on the field when the two contingents clash before probably the largest crowd to ever witness any contest in this series that began back in 1945.

I sincerely hope that each fan, regardless of his allegiance, will play the role of a good sport. Although feeling will run tremendously high throughout the contest, I hope each and every fan will keep his remarks clean and directed at encouraging the players, rather than condemning them. The kids will do their stuff, of this we can be assured, and I hope that the paying customer will also do his stuff as far as good sportsmanship is concerned.

One of the main features of the game will be the halftime intermission program which will find the two bands marching as one unit for the first time. The presence of the bands in a combined group serves to indicate that although many people gathered at Municipal Stadium are divided in their faithfulness to one football team or the other, they are united in more ways than may appear on the surface. Among its many good features, the "Battle of the Boroughs" annually draws people of East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg close together.

Friendships will be renewed in the stands before the game and at halftime, good natured kidding will be heard throughout the contest and good will in general should predominate. This is the first year that this rivalry has been transferred to Thanksgiving and although the two teams have already clashed seven times, it is actually the founding of a new rivalry, one that should and undoubtedly will continue forever, or at least as long as football is a major sport in the two neighboring schools.

However, spectators even more than players carry the key to the success of the long planned rivalry. Fights and arguments are certain to break out from time to time among the players in the heat of conflict, but there is no reason why the same occurrances should take place among fans. Cheer, yell, stamp your feet and in general have a great time, but keep the remarks clean, rather than the type that cut deep into the heart of the kid playing his best on the field before you. Football is a great game, but it is even better when a kid knows that the spectators are with him to the end.

Tomorrow should be a happy day for all concerned, before the game at least, if the weatherman provides the proper setting for the long awaited game. There will be more color present than on a mad artist's brush and the quality of football to be played is the least of our worries. It's a sure thing that both clubs will go all out to bring home the bacon in this one, a game that each squad has been pointing for since the opening of the season, although nobody connected with either team will admit that such is the case. The long awaited kickoff is scheduled for 10 a.m., and may the best team win.

Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg Clash Tomorrow

Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg will clash for the eighth time on the football field tomorrow at Memorial Stadium, with the former attempting to stretch its streak to eight straight, while the latter battles desperately to break into the win column for the first time in the series that began in 1945. The kickoff is scheduled for 10 a. m.

The largest crowd and certainly the best financial gate in the history of the short but heated rivalry is expected this season. Large numbers of people are expected to be present at the stadium long before the two ticket booths open for business at 9 a. m., one hour prior to game time.

Both the Mountaineers and Cavaliers are in good shape and anxious for the ball that will send them against each other for the eighth time, but for the first time on Thanksgiving Day.

Both coaches were quiet and had very little to say yesterday. Jerry Stulgaitis, Stroudsburg mentor said, "it could be and should be a close game and will probably be decided by the breaks."

Jack Kist, head football man at East Stroudsburg, had no comment, but admitted that it would be a close ballgame with the breaks playing a very important role in the outcome.

Stroudsburg will open with its tried and true line of Dave Nevil, left end; Bill "Mighty Moe" Morman, left tackle; Russ Bachman, left guard; Lou Hoover, center; Jim Driebe, right guard; Dick Campeotto, right tackle, and Captain Al Adelmann, right end, on the offensive front wall. The offensive backfield will be directed by Karl Weingartner, quarterback, with Don Garaventi, left half; Benny Miller, right half, and Bill Bailey, fullback, doing the bulk of the ball carrying.

Mike Palmisano will take over for Rogers on defense, while Joe Chase plays safety for Sommers when Stroudsburg has the ball and Don Herman takes over for Dick Transue at the same time. Leon Alberts will see plenty of action both offensively and defensively, replacing London in the latter and Kintz in the former department. Williard Butz will also probably see plenty of action on the forward wall.

Stroudsburg's record thus far is five victories and four setbacks.

Last year the Mountaineers took the Cavaliers into camp at Gordon Giffels Field, 13-14, under the lights in the most thrilling game of the series thus far.

Stroudsburg will wear maroon jerseys and East Stroudsburg will be outfitted in white shirts.

Bands of both schools will march at halftime and combine in at least one number.

Nineteen Seniors To Appear In "Battle Of Boroughs"

Eastburg To Lose Entire Starting Squad

A total of 19 seniors will be singing their swan songs when Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg clash in the annual football "Battle of the Boroughs" tomorrow, fourteen wearing the purple and white colors of the Cavaliers and five outfitted in the maroon and white uniforms of Stroudsburg High.

East Stroudsburg loses its entire starting squad of Dick Transue, John "Juice" Arnst, Bill "Bucky" Rodgers, Dick London, Carl Smith, Joe Shea, Jim Fritz, Jack Sommers, Dick Merring, Jim Kintz and George Litts, and reserves Leon Alberts, Jim Arnst and Joe Antonocci. Rodgers is really only a junior, but is ineligible next year because of age.

Stroudsburg will lose Bill Bailey, Captain Al Adelmann, Dave Pyle, Elmer Strong and Carl Hagerty. Hagerty is also only a junior, but will be too old to play next year.

The Stroudsburg student body will hold a pep meeting in the gymnasium today and then will continue the rally outside on Gordon Giffels field as they give the five departing gridders a big ovation as they make their last training lap of the season.

Stroudsburg daily closes its practice session with a loop around the practice field.

East Stroudsburg has scheduled a giant pep rally in the school's gymnasium today at 2 p. m.

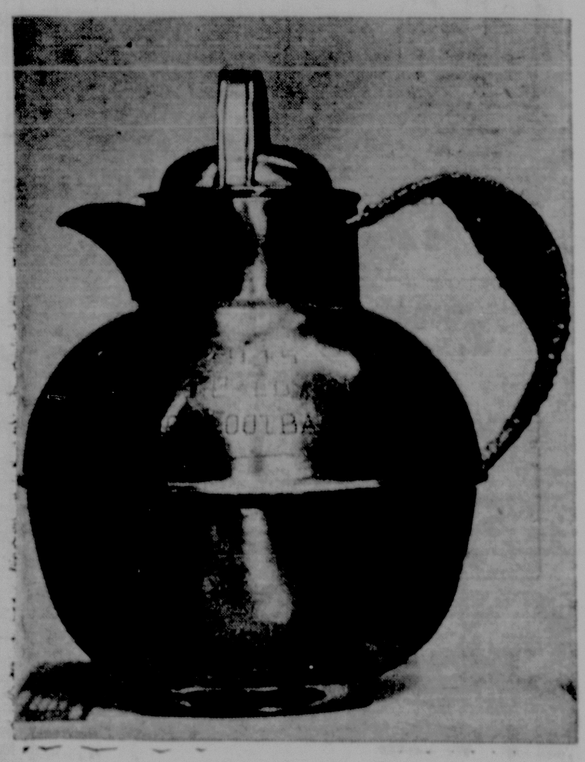

The Stroudsburg gridders will be guests at a breakfast at the Penn-Stroud Hotel tomorrow, at 7:30 a. m. The affair is being made possible by the Varsity "S" Club.

East Stroudsburg's football team will attend today's Community Church service at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church in a body, at 7:30 p. m. Rev. William Wunder will deliver the sermon entitled, "Thanksgiving's Miracle." Rev. Wunder is pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg.

In addition to victory, both teams will be battling for the "Little Brown Jug," Stroudsburg to retain it and East Stroudsburg to take it home for the first time. The jug was donated by Marty Baldwin, local sportsman, when the series began in 1945.

Bands of both schools will drill at halftime tomorrow, both as a unit and separately and both schools will add to the glowing color with a full squad of cheerleaders.

Bangor To Entertain Pen Argyl Foe

Bangor—Football fever reached a near-peak mark in this Slater Belt community last night, as students of Bangor High began preparations for today's giant pep rally which according to play will give the Bangor grid machine the spirit needed to land its second straight victory over Pen Argyl High tomorrow, in a game to be played here at Memorial Stadium, at 2 p.m.

Today's pep rally, slated for 7:30 p.m., will be held at the Bee Hive Youth center, following which the students and the Bangor High band will parade around town.

The students painted signs last night and Mayor Hayden Pritchard reportedly lent the youngsters a hand in preparing for the big game.

Neither coach had anything to say last night, but Granville "Granny" Evans, Bangor mentor, is reportedly confident his charges will take the measure of the green and white clad Pen Argyl club this year.

Joe Heard, an end, is out of tomorrow's clash for sure, but Bob LaPenna, veteran wingman who has been on the sidelines most of the season with a leg injury, returned just in time to take the slack at right end, teaming with glue fingered Joe D'Imperio on the other wing post.

Rodney Miller, who fractured an ankle just before the opening of the present campaign, will start today's contest.

Otherwise the usual Bangor lineup will see action before the largest crowd of the present season.

Pen Argyl has won 17 of the 31 games played thus far, while Bangor has 12 victories to its credit, including last year's 18-7 decision, while three games have resulted in a tie. Two games were played between the arch rivals in 1923 and 1924.

Bangor High will select its captain or co-captains for the season today.

Roberts To Visit Scranton Area

Philadelphia (AP) — Robin Roberts, the 28-game winning pitcher of the Philadelphia Phillies is going to pay a two-day visit to the hard coal country.

Schools

Roberts, first National League pitcher to win 28 games since "Dizzy" Dean turned the trick in 1935, will address more than 5,000 pupils in Nanticoke, Forty-Fort and Kingston High schools on the first day of his visit to the Wyoming Valley.

Fans Split In Choice Of Winner Of Tomorrow's Annual Football Classic At Memorial Stadium

Harold A. Wiggins, president of East Stroudsburg council, 143 Centre St. —"East Stroudsburg has its finest opportunity to win this year ever and I look for the Cavaliers to finish with a victory of 21-0 or 21-7."

Hal H. Harris, Stroudsburg mayor, of 803 Main St.—"Stroudsburg will win because it has the best team and always plays its best against East Stroudsburg".

Les "Cappy" Younkin, W. Main St., Stroudsburg—"I think East Stroudsburg will win because the Cavaliers have the better team and it's time to turn the tables. The final score will favor East Stroudsburg by something like 27-13".

Dick Emanuel, 623 King St., Stroudsburg—"I like Stroudsburg because of its showing against similar foes, especially Slatington. East Stroudsburg capitalized on the breaks to beat Pen Argyl, while Stroudsburg demonstrated its power in downing the same foe."

Larry Musselman, 304 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg — "I think East Stroudsburg should win as the Cavaliers have had a little more on the ball in games I have seen the two schools play this season. However, in a game of this type anything can happen."

Mrs. Larry Musselman, 304 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg —"Stroudsburg always plays its best game against East Stroudsburg, regardless of the sport, and this year's football battle should be no exception. Stroudsburg will make it eight straight."

Mrs. Gladys Fleming, 819 Scott St., Stroudsburg — "This appears to be East Stroudsburg's year to break into the win column in their annual grid battle with Stroudsburg. The Cavaliers have looked strong in every department this season."

Mrs. Warren Loney, 1230 Hamilton St., Stroudsburg — "Stroudsburg has improved during the last half of the present campaign and will make it eight straight wins over East Stroudsburg tomorrow."

The results of the abreviated poll of eight people reveals that four like the Mountaineers and the same number like the Cavaliers, as is the general opinion on a wider range in the area.

Helpful Hints For Housewife

Many housewives in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg are no doubt wondering if they have time to attend tomorrow's football battle between Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, while their turkey roasts in the oven.

In order to help the undecided housewife, these facts were dug up yesterday concerning cooking times and turkeys.

A turkey weighing from six to 10 pounds requires from three to three and one-half hours to roast, or from 20 to 25 minutes per pound. A turkey of from 10 to 16 pounds needs from three and one-half to four and one-half hours of roasting, or from 18 to 20 minutes per pound.

Turkeys weighing from 18 to 25 pounds need from four and one-half to six hours to roast, or from 15 to 18 minutes per pound.

It all adds up to the fact that all housewives have plenty of time to see the game, as the actual contest, including the halftime intermission, will take less than two hours. Everyone will be glad to wait for the trimmings.

Cornell Departs

Ithaca, N. Y., (AP)—A 35-man Cornell football squad boarded a train yesterday for Philadelphia and tomorrow's game with Penn.

Charles Favored Over Bivins

Chicago, (AP)—Ezzard Charles, comeback-trying former heavyweight champion, is a three to one favorite to brush aside ring-wise Jimmy Bivins in their Chicago Stadium 10-rounder tonight.

Bounce

The winner can bounce into the thick of the chase for "Rocky" Marciano's crown.

A sparse throng of 4,000—paying a wan $15,000 gate—is expected at the fifth meeting of the two Negro boxers which will be televised naitonally beginning at 10 p. m. (EST).

Minersville Bows

Minersville, (AP)—Powerful running plays by backs Scott Anderson and Johnny Ptoozelski led Coal Township High School to a 19-6 spoilers' victory over Minersville last night, for the losers' first defeat in 11 games.

Washington, Pa. (AP) — The Washington and Jefferson College basketball team will open a 18-game schedule aaginst Buffalo University at Buffalo, N. Y., on Saturday.

Members

Coach Adam Sanders' cagers had a so-so campaign last year, winning 11 and losing nine. Likely to get the starting assignments are forwards Joe Richards, Aliquippa, and John Mojzer, McMechen, W. Va.; center Bane Weber, Sharon; and guards Lou Alvarez, Moundsville, W. Va., and Ed McGlumphy, Martins Ferry, O.

Reserved Seat Tickets Still Available At Stroudsburg

Anyone wishing to obtain some last minute reserved seat tickets for the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg football classic at Memorial Stadium tomorrow may do so at Stroudsburg High today, but the purchases must be made between 12 noon and 1 p.m.

Mahlon Serfass, faculty athlete manager at Stroudsburg High, announced last night that he had 40 reserved seat tickets remaining and if they weren't purchased by 1 p.m. today they would be available at DeVivo' Shoe Repair up to 6 p.m.

Lewis R. Hastie, faculty athletic manager at East Stroudsburg High, stated last night that tickets would be taken off sale at 6 p.m. today, both reserved seats and general admission.

Hastie also announced that the two ticket booths at Memorial Stadium would open tomorrow at 9 a.m. Tickets remaining will be sold at that time.

The East Stroudsburg faculty manager also urged all people holding green reserved seat tickets to enter the field on the west end, near the goal posts, as those tickets are good for reserved seats between the main grandstand and the playing field.

No Bids For Harrisburg Club

Harrisburg, (AP)—No bids were made for the Class "B" Interstate League franchise of the Harrisburg Senators at an auction sale last night, President David S. Kohn disclosed.

Statement

"A number of people expressed interest in buying the club but none was in a position to make a definite offer," Kohn added after a three and one-half hour meeting of the club's board of directors.

Snead Regains Form To Nip Ford In Boros Open Tourney

Southern Pines, N. C., (AP)—Sam Snead regained his birdie touch when the going got toughest yesterday to pull out a one-stroke victory in the $5,000 54-hole Julius Boros Open Golf Tournament.

The White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., slugger saw a five-stroke 36-hole lead melt in the face of a determined challenge by Doug Ford of Yonkers, N. Y., and had to birdie the 14th and 15th holes to get back even with par for the day and post a 54-hole score of 207. His rounds of 68-67-72 gave him top money of $1,000 and left him nine under par for three trips over the 6,399-yard Mid Pines Club course.

Poor Finish

Ford who nosed out Snead for top money in the Jacksonville, Fla., Open last March, had a sizzling outgoing 31, but fell off to 37 on the way back for 68 and a 208 total, a stroke back of Sammy and $750 runnerup money.

Pete Fleming, St. Andrews, Ill., runnerup through the first two rounds, finished with par 72 and a total of 209. He and Lou Barbaro, Deal, N. J., tied for third.

Shaughnessy To Fight Major Leagues

New York (AP) — Frank "Shag" Shaughnessy, president of the International League, is heading toward Phoenix, Ariz. and the minor league meetings armed with ammunition against the "greedy" majors' attitude toward radio and the 24-hour recall.

"They (the major leagues) pipe their games into our towns", he said, "and even build up excursions to take our own fans away from town for the week end.

"They don't get much money from their radio rights in our towns. You'd think they'd stop when they saw how much big league broadcasts hurt our attendance. But they're all the same. They're too greedy."

Recall

Shaughnessy is particularly bitter about the use of the 24-hour recall by the majors, although it has not been a problem in his own league.

"They ran a shuttle service in and out of the American Association all summer," he said. "No wonder the association attendance dropped. A fellow would hit two home runs or pitch a shutout and he wouldn't be there tomorrow. The majors would reach in and grab him.

"I am sure the boys are going to be very bitter at Phoenix unless the majors do something about cutting out that 24-hour recall."

With the minors beset by a host of problems, Shaughnessy sees the eventual answer in four major leagues. The two "new" majors would include the best minor league towns.

Tulsa Headed To Gator Bowl

Jacksonville, Fla. (AP) — Tulsa University, ranked 11th among the country's football teams in the Associated Press poll, will face the University of Florida, in the Gator Bowl New Year's Day.

Report

Joe Livingston, sports editor of the Jacksonville Journal and selection committee member, said the Oklahoma team would be signed Friday night to a Gator Bowl contract for the eighth annual game here.

Eight Tie For Top Spot In Record Contest

Everybody tried to get in as a winner in the final week of The Daily Record football contest, which closed with the week ending November 22. And no less than eight contestants made it, tieing for first place by correctly naming 20 victorious teams from the 26-game contest list.

East Stroudsburg had half the winners, with four in the select group: Anne L. Miller, 738 Milford Road, C. W. Moore, 51 N. Green St., Andrew Biondo, 193 N. Courtland St., and William Kymer, 612 N. Courtland St.

Stroudsburg

Stroudsburg produced two winners, both from N. Fifth St.: Floyd Williams Sr., residing at number 17, and Bill Kegley, at number 1812. Helen Arnold, Saylorsburg, and Robert Miller, Pocono, complete the winning octette.

AP Scribe Likes Army Over Navy

By Will Grimsley

New York (AP) — At breakfast this morning we knocked over the sugar bowl, spilled the cream and dumped a cup of coffee in our lap.

On the subway we stumbled and upset a sewing basket carried by a grandmotherly commuter. We just broke our fountain pen and overturned the typewriter table, spilling keys and screws all over the premises.

This was hint enough that this is going to be an "upsetty" week end of football, so, pardon us, while we take Army and Notre Dame in Saturday's big games.

In an effort to beat last week's 31-9 mark, here we go again:

Army over Navy: Coach Red Blaik's erstwhile plebes and jayvees, led by Peter Vann, suddenly come of age in an over-the-head performance against a bigger and faster team of Midshipmen. This is a game that often defies form. Navy favored but Army the winner.

Notre Dame over Southern California: Frank Leahy's Fighting Irish, particularly Johnny Lattner who saw little service against Iowa, should be primed for the mighty Trojans, one of the nation's defensive giants. Southern Cal figures for a slight letdown after the victory over UCLA.

Mississippi State over Mississippi: Another traditional game in which the form chart is meaningless.

Oklahoma over Oklahoma A&M: Bill Vessels and Eddie Crowder provide too potent a one-two punch for the Aggies.

Georgia Tech over Georgia: The Engineers have too much team speed for their Athens neighbors, but Georgia will make it close on Zeke Bratkowski's passing.

Alabama over Auburn: These teams play so rough with each other that it was called off for a few years to allow tempers to cool off. This caused the legislature to threaten forcing them to play. This year Alabama looks too strong.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your keynumber. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Hackettstown Inflicts Loss Number Two On Frank's Five

Hackettstown, N. J.—Frank's Barbers went down to their second straight defeat of the infant basketball season on Tuesday night, when the East Stroudsburg contingent bowed before the Hackettstown Sports Club, here on the Hackettstown High court, 76-54.

The outcome of the game was never in doubt, as Hackettstown jumped off to a 27-9 advantage and held the front running spot the remainder of the distance.

Same Story

Hackettstown also dominated the second period, 15-11, and led at the halfway mark, 42-20.

Frank's club held a slim 18-17 edge in the third period, but the home town forces got that one point back by holding a 17-16 margin in the last quarter and finished on the long end of the count by a margin of 22 points.

Tom Foley led the losing attack with 15 points, while Hart and Applegate were the big guns for Hackettstown, each with 18 tallies.

Frank's Barbers return to action on Sunday, when they play the Wilson Borough Sportsmen at Liberty Junior High, in Wilson Borough.

Lineups follow:

Galan To Pilot Oakland Club

Oakland, Calif. (AP) — Augie Galan, one-time major league outfielder for Chicago, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and New York of the National League, was announced yesterday as new manager for Oakland Pacific Coast League baseball club.

Follows Ott

Galan succeeds Mel Ott, another former New York Giant great, whose contract ended by mutual agreemnt at the end of the 1952 season.

Lim To Doctor Both Squads

Dr. John P. Lim, of 805 Main St., will find himself in the peculiar position of being the attending physician for both Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg football teams in tomorrow's "Battle of the Boroughs" at Memorial Stadium.

Lim, who has attended the Stroudsburg grid machine all season, has agreed to take over the East Stroudsburg duties of Dr. R. Frederick Jones, 116 Washington St., who is on his vacation.

The East Stroudsburg team physician is currently vacationing in the southwest.

Philadelphia Good In Pinch

New York (AP) — Philadelphia's major league baseball clubs both finished fourth, but they were first in pinch-hit home runs as the Phils' Bill Nicholson and the Athletics' Keith Thomas and Allie Clark set the pace.

Figures compiled by The Associated Press yesterday reveal that Nicholson, Clark and Thomas each hit three home runs in pinch-hitting roles last season.

Two Others

Only two other players, Detroit's Don Kolloway and Johnny Mize, New York Yankee veteran—hit as many as two round-trippers in a substitute capacity.

There were 38 pinch-hit homers walloped last season with the A's accounting for six of them, Detroit five, the Phillies four and the Boston Red Sox, New York Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates, three apiece.

Michigan State Continues To Lead Pack

By John Chandler

New York (AP) — The Michigan State Spartans, their football schedule completed, remained the country's number one college football team yesterday in the ninth and next-to-last Associated Press poll of 1952.

Now the big question is whether the undefeated Spartans can maintain their huge vote appeal next week in the final poll that spotlights the mythical national champions.

Perhaps nothing that transpires in the annual Notre Dame-Southern California game Saturday at South Bend, Ind., will affect the final outcome in The AP poll that has been accepted since 1936 as establishing a national champ.

Change

However, the Fighting Irish certainly can affect a few votes as it concerns Southern California, which moved into the No. 2 slot this week for the first time.

Notre Dame, out of the top 10 teams for most of the fall, has finally found itself number seven. Furthermore, the spoilers from South Bend are being picked by many experts to whomp Southern California, which gained a Rose Bowl berth against Wisconsin by edging UCLA Saturday, 14-12.

Notre Dame has pulled three big surprises this fall, whipping Texas, Southwest champion; Purdue, co-champs of the Big Ten, and Oklahoma, holder of the Big Seven crown. Michigan State whipped Notre Dame 21-3. Now the Irish have a chance to knock off the Pacific Coast Conference kingpins.

Georgia Tech, which had been voted the number two team for the last two polls, slipped to third this week, just 21 points behind Southern California in the balloting of 149 of the nation's sports writers and sportscasters.

Michigan State received 88 of the first place votes, and a total of 1,400 points on the usual basis of 10 points for first, nine for second and so on. Southern California got 24 firsts, 1,244 points; Georgia Tech 20 firsts, and 1,223 points.

Georgia Tech picks on oft-thumped Georgia Saturday, and should ring up victory number 11 as it heads for a New Year's Day Sugar Bowl date with Missisippi.

First Time

If Michigan State gets the nod next week for the eighth straight week of the poll, it will be the first time the Spartans have wound up on top of the heap. Coach Biggie Munn's team, now with 24 straight victories, was voted the number two behind Tennessee a year ago.

Eight of the 10 top teams have a game remaining, which could alter the final lineup. UCLA, as well as Michigan State, is through. UCLA, third in last week's poll, dropped to fifth.

Committee Makes Athletic Changes At Y

A Christmas Basketball Tournament will be held for the senior division at the Monroe County YMCA during the Christmas holidays, it was announced last night following a meeting of the Physical Committee, the ruling athletic body at the local Y. Dates for the tournament will be announced later.

The committee also named Ray Welsh, scout for the Pittsburgh Pirates, as president of both the Industrial and Senior YMCA Leagues. Both circuits play all of their games at the YMCA.

Officials for games played at the YMCA will come from East Stroudsburg State Teachers College for the most part.

New Role

In the past it has been optional whether a player is sent to the showers after committing five fouls, mainly because some teams didn't have enough players. However, it was ruled last night that from now on all players with five fouls must leave the contest.

Officials were given the power to dismiss unsportsmanlike players from any game or games.

The girls' Varsity "S" club of Stroudsburg High have been given the use of the YMCA building from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Wednesdays.

No players will be allowed to take part in both the Industrial and Senior Y League during the same season.

Ray Davies, well known athlete and coach in Monroe County, will serve as commissioner of officials for the season about to get underway.

The committee decided to play only two games and not three each night, as suggested at an earlier meeting.

Additional information on the Christmas tournament will be announced in the near future.

Chestnuthill Rallies To Trip Alumni In Opening Tilt, 36-22

Brodheadsville—Chestnuthill High launched its 1952-1953 basketball campaign in a winning fashion last night by taking the measure of the Alumni, 36-22, here on the high school court.

The scholastic charges of Coach Otto "Junior" Mills came roaring from behind with a one-sided 18-1 margin in the final period, to erase a 21-18 deficit the winning team faced going into the final round.

Periods

Chestnuthill also had the best of a slow moving first period, 4-1, but the Alumni fought back to hold the upper hand in the second and third quarters.

The graduates held a 9-8 edge in the second period, but the high school team was out in front at intermission time, 12-10.

However, the Alumni held an 11-6 edge in the third stanza to hold the lead going into the final round.

Possinger and Kreger each scored six field goals for the winning team, with the former carding 14 points and the latter 16.

Lloyd Brong led the Alumni in scoring with nine markers.

Navy Tackle To Be At Post

Annapolis, Md., (AP)—Don Fullam, first-string tackle suspended for a violation of the Naval Academy code of conduct, was cleared yesterday to play in this Saturday's Army-Navy football game.

The Academy said Secretary of the Navy Kimball had recommended punishment "short of discharge" for the 21-year-old junior from Bronxville, N. Y.

Own Steps

That means Annapolis authorities will discipline Fullam on their own. What steps they take will not be disclosed, but in such cases the penalty usually involves loss of liberty, demerits or the like.

The nature of Fullam's infraction was never divulged. From unofficial sources it was reported his trouble started when he was questioned about absence from a formation.

Saxton Wins Easily

Newark (AP) — New Jersey light heavyweight champion Phil Saxton, 173, Elizabeth, won every round to defeat Jack la Board, 171, Newark, in a non-title 8-round bout at Laurel Garden last night.

Pimlico Race Track Sold To New Combination

Baltimore, (AP)—The directors of Pimlico Race Track yesterday sealed the deal by which they are selling Old Hilltop to a group headed by Cary Boshamer, South Carolina textile manufacturer and horse breeder.

The Maryland Jockey Club voted to sell the Boshamer group approximately 78,000 shares of Pimlico stock for $25 a share, or about $1,950,000.

This will give the new owners 86 per cent of the shares.

Same Price

The purchasers announced they would pay the same price for any other stock the owners want to sell.

Although the sale was announced last week, it was not sealed until yesterday when the directors declined to take advantage of an option which gave them first chance at the sale of the largest single block of shares, controlled by a voting trust.

Associated with Boshamer in the purchase are Ben and Herman Cohen, Baltimore building contractors, owners of a television station WAAM here, and his partners in the Cranwood and Thistle Downs Race Tracks in Ohio.

It's always Winter in your refrigerator...

that's why Ballantine Beer is brewed for flavor that chill can't kill

SETTLING DOWN to enjoy the great indoors? Then how about a nice cold glass of Ballantine Beer?

Here's beer that keeps its fine flavor even when served ice cold.

Ballantine Beer is deep-brewed for flavor!

For lightness, yes! For dryness, of course! But first, last, and always, Ballantine brews for flavor. The fine, full flavor of ripe, tawny grains and hops is brewed so deep in this beer that chill can't kill it!

Serve Ballantine Beer right off the ice. It just brims with flavor!

IN SAD and loving memory of my husband, Stanley Storm, who was taken home ten years ago, Nov. 27, 1942.
Softly at night the stars are gleaming
Upon a lonely grave
Where sleeping without dreaming
Is one I loved but could not save
Some may think he is forgotten
when they see me smile but they know not the sorrow that smile
hides all the while.
